Scioto River To Crest at Near 15 Feet

No Highways Closed In County; 1-3 Inches Snowfall Is Expected

A late winter thaw, melted snow and more than an inch of rainfall during the weekend are responsible for swollen rivers and creeks in the area.

The weatherman predicted snow for this afternoon and evening accumulating 1-3 inches by morning with little change in temperatures. The forecast isn't expected to cause any increase in flood threats.

The Scioto River here is expected to reach its crest at about 15.5 feet tonight and drop well below the flood level of 14 feet by tomorrow.

The river here measured 14.10 feet at 8 a. m. Sunday and had risen to nearly 15 feet by 8 a. m. today. The local observer reported a "slow rising tendency" at noon today.

THERE were no state or county highways closed in Pickaway County due to high waters. However, some portions of highways in low areas were in danger of flooding early today.

The weekend rainfall brought the precipitation gauge to 0.67 of an inch above the normal accumulation of 1.86 inches for February. So far this year there have been 4.87 inches of precipitation measured here compared to a normal accumulation of 4.33 inches.

Official measure of rainfall for the weekend was 1.08 inches with 0.25 of an inch falling after 8 a. m. Sunday.

Egypt, Ghana Chiefs Plan Viet Parley

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The semi-official Egyptian newspaper Al-Ahram said President Gamal Abdel Nasser and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana will meet in Cairo next Monday for a new attempt to get the opposing factions in Viet Nam to negotiate. Al-Ahram said Nkrumah will go on to Rangoon, Peking, Hanoi and Moscow.

Canadian Foreign Secretary Paul Martin will go to Washington Saturday for talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk that are expected to center on Viet Nam. He will confer in New York the following day with U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant.

Canada has been consulting with India and Poland, the other two members of the International Control Commission for Indochina, on the feasibility of using the commission as a lever to start Viet Nam peace negotiations.

Percy Quits Firm For Senate Race

CHICAGO (AP) — Charles H. Percy has stepped out of the management of the Bell & Howell Co. after 28 years.

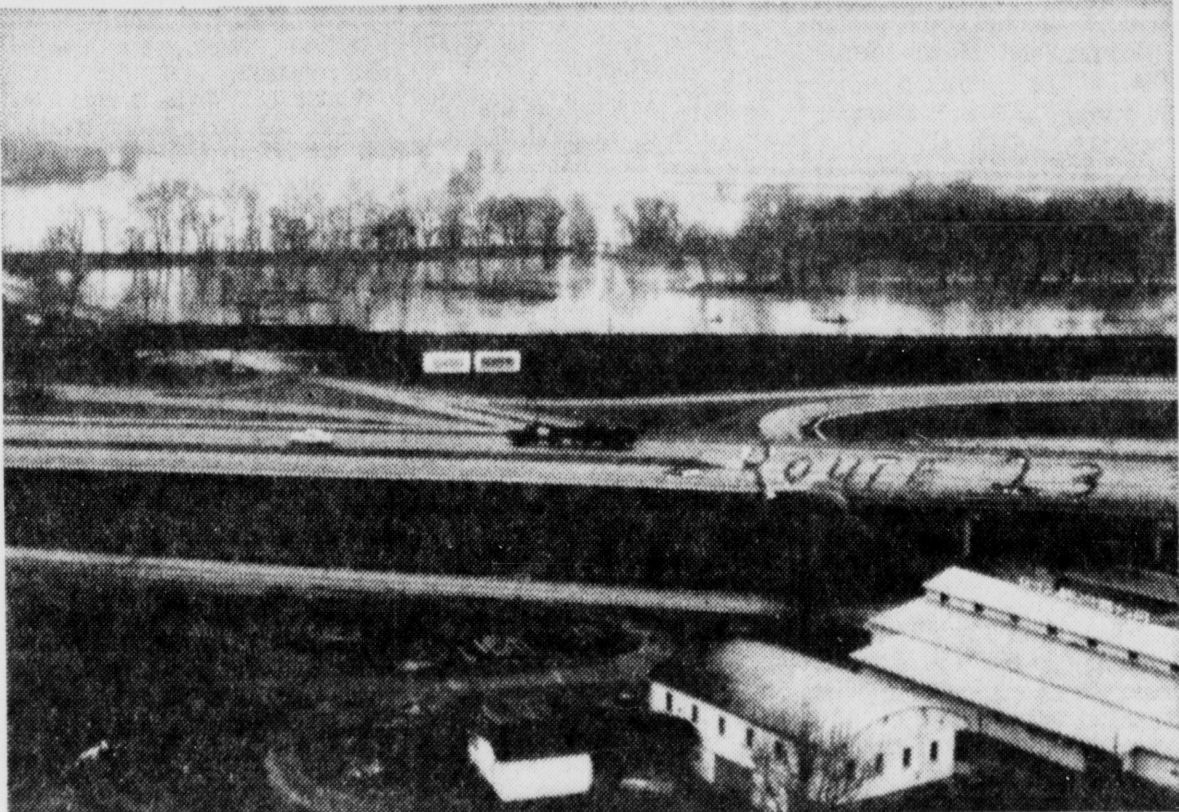

Percy is seeking the Republican nomination as U.S. senator from Illinois and wrote President Peter G. Peterson Sunday he feared the firm would be brought into the campaign if he remained. He said he would not seek re-election as a director or chairman of the Bell & Howell board.

Percy, 46, joined the camera manufacturing firm in 1938 while a student at the University of Chicago. He became a director in 1942, president in 1949 and board chairman in 1961.

More Rejects Wanted WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey, director of Selective Service, says he wants to draft more of the two million men previously rejected for physical and intellectual reasons.

The bottomland bordering Route 22, west of the bridge, was flooded today almost to the point of crossing Route 56. This picture was snapped from atop the Pickaway Grain Co. elevator looking west toward the river area.

U.S. Is 3 Years Behind Schedule On Lunar Probe

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration generally has an excellent record launching spacecraft and making them work. But there's a skeleton in the closet: the hapless Surveyor program whose goal is to soft-land an unmanned vehicle on the moon.

The recent gentle landing of the Soviet Union's Luna 9 on the lunar surface focused attention on Surveyor — a program which a congressional subcommittee recently termed "one of the least orderly and most poorly executed of NASA's projects."

Vandalia Coed Named As Ohio's Junior Miss

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Junior Miss for 1966 is a pert, 17-year-old high school coed, Madeline Carvalho of Vandalia, near Dayton.

Miss Carvalho, north Dayton's Junior Miss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carvalho, won the title and the right to represent the state in America's Junior Miss Pageant next month at Mobile, Ala.

started out to do, the first craft would have been on the moon in 1963 and the Soviet Union would not have reaped the propaganda value of achieving this historic feat first while a similar American attempt floundered.

The first Surveyor now is scheduled to rocket toward the moon in May, but chances of a successful soft landing on the initial attempt are not great. Project officials noted the complexity of the mission and the fact the Russians failed at least four times before recording a success.

Not only is the program three years behind schedule, its cost has spiraled out of this world. Originally conceived in 1960 as a $50-million program for seven landings, the price tag already has reached $350 million and is expected to surpass $725 million by the time the presently planned 10 landings are completed.

To find out what went wrong, the NASA oversight subcommittee of the House Space Committee recently conducted a probe. The group was headed by Rep. Joseph Karth, D-Minn.

The result was a blistering 35-page attack on both government and industry management.

In a nutshell it said: "A project as troublesome as Surveyor demands vigorous centralized management and effective control from the top. From all appearances, these important elements have been largely missing right from the start."

The report said program management has been strengthened in recent months, most technical problems seem to be solved and the first Surveyor now appears ready for flight in May.

The Karth subcommittee dealt mainly with the spacecraft. But the program's difficulties also involved the launch vehicle, the Atlas-Centaur rocket.

In 1960 no U.S. rocket was powerful enough to send the 2,150-pound Surveyor to the moon. So a new stage, the hydrogen-powered Centaur, was developed for use with the Atlas.

High-energy liquid hydrogen was an untried rocket fuel and engineers had trouble taming

Bechuanaland Due For Independence

LONDON (AP) — The machinery for dismantling the British Empire slipped smoothly into gear again today to prepare the way for independence for the 550,000 hungry Africans of Bechuanaland.

The constitutional conference that opened at Marlborough House was expected to be one of the quietest as well as one of the last of its kind.

Barring accidents, by Sept. 30 the Bechuanaland protectorate, will become the Independent Republic of Botswana, with Seretse Khama, now its prime minister, as its first president.

Laotians Get HHH Assurance

U.S. Pledges Aid In Redevelopment

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey flew from Bangkok to Laos for a brief visit today and told the Laotians he had come to reassure them of his government's pledge "to work with you in developing your resources."

Humphrey flew across the Mekong River from Thailand after making an aerial inspection tour of eight projects including sites for a huge power dam to serve both Laos and Thailand and a Mekong dam that will create a giant lake for irrigation.

These are the kinds of projects contemplated under President Johnson's Southeast Asia development concept.

Before reaching Laos, Humphrey told a reporter he also wanted to reassure Premier Souvanna Phouma and other Laotian leaders that the United States intends to remain firm against Communist encroachment in Southeast Asia.

Laos was the third country Humphrey has visited on his nine-nation tour.

Humphrey let the Laotians know the United States is not trying to draw their Communist threatened kingdom into an alliance. He did this by paying tribute to Souvanna Phouma's efforts to secure the independence and neutrality of Laos.

But it was to economic betterment that Humphrey devoted the bulk of his talk, saying:

"Here in the great unharmed natural wealth of the Mekong River Valley we can see not only the potential for the future prosperity and peace of the nations on its banks but also the source of food for other nations of the world."

After lunch with Souvanna Phouma, Humphrey was due to board a helicopter for an inspection of an "accelerated rural development project" in north-east Thailand.

Then he arranged to return to Bangkok surveying six more projects from the air on the way.

Tornado Rips Southeast U.S.

3 States Take Wind Damage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A tornado-spawning wind and rain storm that raked portions of the South for hours moved out to sea today.

Tornadoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Georgia Sunday caused heavy damage to private property. At least one death was reported.

Rain and flash flooding was widespread. Heavy rain fell over sections of Tennessee, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Ohio, West Virginia, Alabama and portions of New England.

An 11-year-old boy died at Troutman, N.C., when a small building collapsed on him during a storm Sunday. Four to five inches of rain fell over northwestern North Carolina, flooding many low-lying areas.

Tornadoes skipped through at least four North Carolina counties.

In Virginia, rain, hail and several small twisters marked a variety of weather Sunday. Wind gusts reached 70 m.p.h. and caused some damage.

Houses and house trailers were damaged when tornadoes hit Griffin and Winterville, Ga. At Nicholson, Brazelton and Winder, Ga., tornadoes toppled 10 chicken houses. One farmer estimated he lost 75,000 chickens in the storm.

New York received nearly 2 1/2 inches of rain Sunday — the heaviest fall for the date since 1893 — and added nearly a billion gallons to the city's upstate watershed.

Low areas around Pittsburgh and in western Pennsylvania were flooded by rapidly rising streams and rivers. Flood stages were expected today on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Between 2 and 3 inches of rain fell over the weekend in Pennsylvania.

The Ohio River in West Virginia and Ohio also was to reach flood stage today.

Melting snow and heavy rains brought flash floods to portions of Tennessee. At Gatlinburg, Tenn., flood damage to private property may reach $1 million, city officials said.

Reluctant Groom Returns to Altar

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The priest asked Antonio Naddeo, 28, Sunday whether he would take Concetta Savarese, also 28, in holy matrimony.

"Excuse me, I wasn't listening," said Antonio.

The priest repeated his question. "I don't want her," Antonio replied and walked out of the church.

Concetta fainted.

Distraught relatives revived her and persuaded Antonio to return to the altar.

The priest put the question again. Antonio sighed and said, "Yes."

Quakers Stage Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 400 sign-carrying Quakers held a silent two-hour vigil across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House today in protest against the Viet Nam war.

Barry Claims U.S. 'Grovels'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona says an American demonstration of determination — and not what he calls "groveling" peace offensives — will bring Communist North Viet Nam to the conference table.

"I don't think it's our job to get the Communists to the conference table by begging, by going through other emissaries, by going through other leaders," the 1964 Republican presidential candidate said Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

"I think we'll get the Hanoi government to the conference table when we convince them that we have the will to attack and that we are attacking them," Goldwater said.

"It is a very sad spectacle to see the greatest power on earth sort of groveling," he added.

President Johnson's peace offensive — and its failure — thus far — brought these other top weekend developments:

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., proposed that Johnson invite the participants in the 1954 Geneva conference to meet again to discuss a settlement in the Viet Nam war.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon, said the probability is "quite low" that increased military pressure by the United States in Viet Nam would lead to a confrontation with Red China. Administration officials reported that the United States has started black-listing non-Communist and Polish ships that trade with North Viet Nam.

Ohio Traffic Toll Zooms On Weekend

Two accidents in Summit County took seven lives and pushed Ohio's weekend traffic death toll to the highest figure since the New Year Holiday.

At least 19 perished between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

A double fatal auto collision in Akron was part of an unusually heavy Friday night toll, and the next day came the tragic event in Barberton in which a mother and her four young girls were fatally injured. A train smashed their car stalled on a railroad crossing.

Engineer T. T. Kelly saw the car on the crossing as he rounded the curve. He immediately put his Erie Lackawanna freight train on "big hold" (emergency stop).

The train couldn't stop in time.

"I sounded the horn as I rounded the curve," said Kelly, 42, of Marion, Ohio, "I saw the car about 100 yards ahead."

The freight, traveling about 50 miles per hour, hit the car and dragged it over a half mile.

Dead are Mrs. Ella Louise Barnes, 33, and daughters — Susan, 11, Nancy, 9, Margaret, 5, and Janet, 4.

Mrs. Barnes had received her driver's license about two weeks ago and she and the girls were returning home after a shopping trip. John Barnes, the father, was the only member of the family not in the car.

Teacher Corps, Draft Aid Eyed

Threefold Request Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a three-pronged request to Congress today for urgent action to provide $55,881,000 for a rent subsidy program for the poor, a National Teacher Corps and expansion of the Selective Service System.

Johnson said the first two are "vital to our efforts to improve the quality of life in America", and the third is "a direct effort of our commitment to freedom in Southeast Asia."

His request was a letter to Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

The funds the President requested — will provide extra money for the present fiscal year ending June 30 — $30 million for the rent supplement program, $13.2 million for the Teachers Corps and $12,681,000 for handling the added load on the Selective Service System.

The rent subsidy program was approved by the last congressional session but not the funds to finance it. It is aimed at overcoming some of the shortages in decent, low-cost housing in cities.

The President said the Housing and Urban Development Department already has received proposals to build nearly 70,000 housing units under the program. These involve 424 projects in 43 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Backing up the request for extra funds for Selective Service, Johnson said the original appropriation for this year was based on an estimate of 125,000 draftees. Now the estimate is about 390,000.

As for the Teacher Corps, authorized by last year's Higher Education Act, Johnson said funds are needed now so the first teams for the corps can start training this summer.

U.S. Congress Plans Little For Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress plans to take it easy this week.

The Senate and House were to meet briefly today and Tuesday, with the House scheduled to consider some private relief bills Tuesday. No other business is expected.

An informal recess is in progress until Wednesday in both chambers to allow members to go home for the annual Lincoln Day observances.

When the legislators return to work Wednesday, the House will take up a Senate-passed measure to create 45 additional federal judgeships and the Senate will consider a $4.8-billion military procurement bill.

No other legislation is scheduled for debate during the rest of the week.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee plans to resume Thursday its public hearings on U.S. policy in Viet Nam, with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, special presidential consultant, as the principal witness.

Search Plane Crash Kills 8 U.S. GIs

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — Air and ground searchers today located the wreckage of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster with eight Americans aboard which crashed while delivering material for the search for the U.S. nuclear bomb missing off the coast of Spain.

A U.S. spokesman said the wreckage was sighted six miles northwest of the village of Trevelez, on the snow-covered slopes of 11,423-foot Pico Nevada, in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

There was no mention of survivors.

The giant C124, based at Hunter Air Force Base, Ga., disappeared Saturday night after leaving Seville with two buses for use by bomb searchers here on the southern coast.

Is Romance Dying This Valentine's Day

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when the moon was for lovers instead of for unmanned instrumented probes.

Singers then crooned of pretty girls who were like melodies and of love in bloom. Nowadays pop songs discourse on the shape your stomach is in, or on going to a go go.

Is romance dying out? "Lots of romance is still going on, especially among the young," said Oleg Cassini, dapper fashion designer and bon vivant. He was one of a group of personalities queried about the status of romance in the space age.

"But the romantic approach — that slower, measured way to emotional attachment — is less apparent. Romance today is fast and furious. If you don't make up your mind about someone today, you may never see her again tomorrow."

"Romance is dead," pop singer Bobby Vinton said flatly. "Times have changed. So have the formalities of boy-girl relationships. Candy and flowers used to be considered necessary to any courtship. Now they're nice but extraneous."

Actress Jayne Mansfield, who is currently appearing at the Latin Quarter night club, differed strenuously:

"I've never been under the impression that romance, gallantry and chivalry were dead. Men have always made a fuss over me. Their motives weren't always gallant or chivalrous, but when the gift wrapping is so elaborate, who prices the gift?"

Dr. Harold Greenwald, psychoanalyst and author of "Emotional Maturity in Love and Marriage," said:

"I don't think it's dying, but it's less with some people. Romance is based on unavailability. The great romantic figures were cowboys out on the range without a woman in sight and knights in armor — how affectionate can you get wearing armor?"

"If there is less romance now," Greenwald went on, "it's because there is less postponement of gratification. Those who can wait have more romance. Dropouts don't go in much for romance. Romance is, after all, a middle class luxury."

Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, put it elegantly: "Romance, like the precious century plant, only blooms when it is not watched."

Romance dead? No, snapped

Eve Merriam, happily married author of "After Nora Slammed the Door" and other books on women and their problems.

"No," she repeated, "but it should be. Romance is the worst approach to love and marriage I know."

"I define romance in the Hollywood sense — falling in love and staying in love in a monogamous way for the rest of your life. Romantic marriage is finding a mate by all the standards of mass media, including the Hollywood movies, the television situation comedies and the advertising columns of your favorite periodicals."

Low areas around Pittsburgh and in western Pennsylvania were flooded by rapidly rising streams and rivers. Flood stages were expected today on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Between 2 and 3 inches of rain fell over the weekend in Pennsylvania.

The Ohio River in West Virginia and Ohio also was to reach flood stage today.

Melting snow and heavy rains brought flash floods to portions of Tennessee. At Gatlinburg, Tenn., flood damage to private property may reach $1 million, city officials said.

Reluctant Groom Returns to Altar

SALERNO, Italy (AP) — The priest asked Antonio Naddeo, 28, Sunday whether he would take Concetta Savarese, also 28, in holy matrimony.

"Excuse me, I wasn't listening," said Antonio.

The priest repeated his question. "I don't want her," Antonio replied and walked out of the church.

Concetta fainted.

Distraught relatives revived her and persuaded Antonio to return to the altar.

The priest put the question again Antonio sighed and said, "Yes."

Quakers Stage Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 400 sign-carrying Quakers held a silent two-hour vigil across Pennsylvania Avenue from the White House today in protest against the Viet Nam war.

Barry Claims U.S. 'Grovels'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona says an American demonstration of determination — and not what he calls "groveling" peace offensives — will bring Communist North Viet Nam to the conference table.

"I don't think it's our job to get the Communists to the conference table by begging, by going through other emissaries, by going through other leaders," the 1964 Republican presidential candidate said Sunday on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers."

"I think we'll get the Hanoi government to the conference table when we convince them that we have the will to attack and that we are attacking them," Goldwater said.

"It is a very sad spectacle to see the greatest power on earth sort of groveling," he added.

President Johnson's peace offensive — and its failure thus far — brought these other top weekend developments:

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., proposed that Johnson invite the participants in the 1954 Geneva conference to meet again to discuss a settlement in the Viet Nam war.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon, said the probability is "quite low" that increased military pressure by the United States in Viet Nam would lead to a confrontation with Red China.

Administration officials reported that the United States has started black-listing non-Communist and Polish ships that trade with North Viet Nam.

Goldwater coupled his first public attack on Johnson's peace offensive with another plea for more reliance on U.S. air power and less reliance on American ground troops.

"We should use air power and rely on our allies and South Vietnamese for ground fighting," he said. "Our boys are not acclimated to that type of fighting."

He repeated his suggestions that air power should be used to attack the industrial complexes in North Viet Nam, bomb railroads and destroy the Ho Chi Minh Trail and said North Viet Nam's ports could be shut down by mining them or sinking ships in them.

Soviet Spy Reports How FBI Goofed

MOSCOW (AP)—Col. Rudolph Abel, former Soviet master spy in the United States, says fumbles by FBI agents allowed him to ditch a recorded radio message from Moscow and a decoder while he was being arrested.

Abel was convicted in 1957 but exchanged five years later for U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

Writing in Moscovsky Komsolets, a youth newspaper, Abel said he had contact with Moscow the night before his arrest and the equipment was still in his hotel room when six FBI agents arrived.

While a careless FBI man was supposed to watch him, Abel claimed, he dropped the decoder down a toilet, then used the tape recording to wipe an artist's palette and flushed the tape down, too. While a spy in New York he had posed as an artist.

In Washington, the FBI declined to comment on Abel's claims.

Search Plane Crash Kills 8 U.S. GIs

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP)—Air and ground searchers today located the wreckage of a U.S. Air Force Globemaster with eight Americans aboard which crashed while delivering material for the search for the U.S. nuclear bomb missing off the coast of Spain.

A U.S. spokesman said the wreckage was sighted six miles northwest of the village of Trevelez, on the snow-covered slopes of 11,423-foot Pico Mulhacen, in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

There was no mention of survivors.

The giant C124, based at Hunter Air Force Base, Ga., disappeared Saturday night after leaving Seville with two buses for use by bomb searchers here on the southern coast.

Teacher Corps, Draft Aid Eyed

Threefold Request Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson made a three-pronged request to Congress today for urgent action to provide $55,881,000 for a rent subsidy program for the poor, a National Teacher Corps and expansion of the Selective Service System.

Johnson said the first two are "vital to our efforts to improve the quality of life in America," and the third is "a direct effort of our commitment to freedom in Southeast Asia."

His request was a letter to Speaker of the House John W. McCormack.

The funds the President requested — will provide extra money for the present fiscal year ending June 30 — $30 million for the rent supplement program, $13.2 million for the Teachers Corps and $12,681,000 for handling the added load on the Selective Service System.

The rent subsidy program was approved by the last congressional session but not the funds to finance it. It is aimed at overcoming some of the shortages in decent, low-cost housing in cities.

The President said the Housing and Urban Development Department already has received proposals to build nearly 70,000 housing units under the program. These involve 424 projects in 43 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

Backing up the request for extra funds for Selective Service, Johnson said the original appropriation for this year was based on an estimate of 125,000 draftees. Now the estimate is about 360,000.

As for the Teacher Corps, authorized by last year's Higher Education Act, Johnson said funds are needed now so the first teams for the corps can start training this summer.

U.S. Congress Plans Little For Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress plans to take it easy this week.

The Senate and House were to meet briefly today and Tuesday, with the House scheduled to consider some private relief bills Tuesday. No other business is expected.

An informal recess is in progress until Wednesday in both chambers to allow members to go home for the annual Lincoln Day observances.

When the legislators return to work Wednesday, the House will take up a Senate-passed measure to create 45 additional federal judgeships and the Senate will consider a $4.8-billion military procurement bill.

No other legislation is scheduled for debate during the rest of the week.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee plans to resume Thursday its public hearings on U.S. policy in Viet Nam, with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, special presidential consultant, as the principal witness.

Is Romance Dying This Valentine's Day

NEW YORK (AP) — There was a time when the moon was for lovers instead of for un-manned instrumented probes.

Singers then crooned of pretty girls who were like melodies and of love in bloom. Nowadays pop songs discourse on the shape your stomach is in, or on going to a go go.

Is romance dying out?

"Lots of romance is still going on, especially among the young," said Oleg Cassini, dapper fashion designer and bon vivant. He was one of a group of personalities queried about the status of romance in the space age.

"But the romantic approach — that slower, measured way to emotional attachment — is less apparent. Romance today is fast and furious. If you don't make up your mind about someone today, you may never see her again tomorrow."

"Romance is dead," pop singer Bobby Vinton said flatly.

"Times have changed. So have the formalities of boy-girl relationships. Candy and flowers used to be considered necessary to any courtship. Now they're nice but extraneous."

Actress Jayne Mansfield, who is currently appearing at the Latin Quarter night club, differed strenuously:

"I've never been under the impression that romance, gallantry and chivalry were dead. Men have always made a fuss over me. Their motives weren't always gallant or chivalrous, but when the gift wrapping is so elaborate, who prices the gift?"

Dr. Harold Greenwald, psychoanalyst and author of "Emotional Maturity in Love and Marriage," said:

"I don't think it's dying, but it's less with some people. Romance is based on unavailability. The great romantic figures were cowboys out on the range without a woman in sight and knights in armor — how affectionate can you get wearing armor?"

"If there is less romance now," Greenwald went on, "it's because there is less postponement of gratification. Those who can wait have more romance. Dropouts don't go in much for romance. Romance is, after all, a middle class luxury."

Mrs. Wyatt Cooper, the former Gloria Vanderbilt, put it elegantly: "Romance, like the precious century plant, only blooms when it is not watched."

Romance dead? No, snapped

Eve Merriam, happily married author of "After Nora Slammed the Door" and other books on women and their problems.

"No," she repeated, "but it should be. Romance is the worst approach to love and marriage I know."

I define romance in the Hollywood sense — falling in love and staying in love in a monogamous way for the rest of your life. Romantic marriage is finding a mate by all the standards of mass media, including the Hollywood movies, the television situation comedies and the advertising columns of your favorite periodicals."

State Urges High Court Return Dr. Sam to Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Att'y. Gen. William B. Saxbe said in a brief sent today to the U. S. Supreme Court that Samuel Sheppard, convicted Cleveland wife slayer, received a fair trial and should be returned to prison.

David Kessler, assistant attorney general who helped prepare the brief, said he would accompany Saxbe to Washington next Monday for a hearing scheduled Feb. 24.

Kessler said the brief reviewed all the evidence submitted in the Sheppard trial to show that the former osteopath's constitutional rights were not violated and that the jury was not influenced by newspaper publicity, as some claimed.

Sheppard received a life sentence for the bludgeon slaying of his wife, Marilyn, July 4, 1954, but was released after serving ten years in prison by a U. S. District Judge on grounds he did not receive a fair trial.

The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the judge and Sheppard appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Saxbe asked the court to reject the appeal.

In other developments, John T. Thomas Corrigan, prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga County, in a brief filed in Washington today defended as fair the trial of Sheppard.

Corrigan's brief was submitted to the Supreme Court before the hearing later this month.

Offered as a "friend of the court," the brief said "the fantastic stories told by the petitioner (Dr. Sheppard) were so unreasonable and absurd as to be, in the opinion of the jury, unworthy of credence."

Corrigan disputed that newspaper publicity had affected the trial.

"The opinions of newspaper editors and newspaper articles should not be received as a substitute for evidence," the brief said, "nor as a substitute for the well-reasoned opinions of the trial and reviewing courts based upon the record . . . there was no interference by the news media with the handling of this trial by the trial judge."

The 84-page printed brief asserted that "the publicity that occurred in this case was engendered by the petitioner's own acts and was not a one way thoroughfare. The petitioner, members of his family and his counsel were fairly prolific in the exercise of the first amendment freedoms in their statements to the newspapers for publication and public consumption before and during the trial."

News of World in Brief

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—George E. Brown, 27, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon today. The "weapon" was his automobile.

Police said Brown and Albert Avery got into an argument Saturday night over a pool game. They continued their argument after they left the pool room. Both men got into their cars, police said, and Brown rammed Avery's. Avery got out and fired a shot when Brown tried to run over him.

The bullet went through the windshield of Brown's car but expended its force so much it lodged in Brown's shirt, causing only a red mark on his chest.

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—The late Branch Rickey, a major league baseball leader for many years, will be honored by his alma mater with a physical education center.

Ohio Wesleyan University trustees voted over the weekend to establish the Branch Rickey Center for Physical Education, to include two existing buildings plus a new fieldhouse and a new gymnasium which are planned for construction.

Rickey, who died in December at 83, was a 1904 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan and was a life trustee of the university.

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Russian writers were convicted today of anti-Soviet propaganda because of books they published abroad under pen names.

Andrei D. Sinyavsky was sentenced to seven years at hard labor, and Yuli M. Daniel was sentenced to five years at hard

Cong Mines Fatal to 54

Villagers Slain In Retaliation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The Viet Cong mined three buses today, killing 54 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 18 in retaliation for an Allied operation that is rescuing a huge rice harvest.

Allied ground forces reported killing 150 Viet Cong in scattered clashes elsewhere in South Viet Nam in the past 24 hours, while U.S. planes hammered Communist targets in North and South Viet Nam. Guerrillas overran an outpost in the Mekong Delta, at Dinh Mon, and killed or captured all 11 defenders.

The death-dealing Viet Cong mines were set off on a road 10 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, the central coast where the U.S. 101st Airborne, South Korean marines and South Vietnamese troops have been scouring the countryside for several weeks while the rice was being harvested.

An American spokesman said the first blast was touched off about 7:30 a.m., catching a busload of farmers and killing 27 and wounding 11.

The explosion left a crater nine feet deep in the road, hurled the bus into a canal and scattered bodies along the roadside.

About an hour and a half later, the spokesman continued, a three-wheel vehicle used as a bus and jammed with passengers drove along the same stretch of road and touched off a second mine. Another 20 Vietnamese were killed and seven wounded.

An hour and a half later a second three-wheel bus drove onto the scene and set off a third mine. This time seven persons were reported killed.

The mining evidently was in retaliation for the rice harvesting, which has been highly successful in an area that until recently had to import 600 tons a month because the Viet Cong controlled a major portion of the crop.

The airborne brigade, which with Allied troops has killed 137 Viet Cong and captured 75 weapons in Operation Van Buren, reported that 51 per cent of the harvest is in, a total of 27,100 tons of rice now in government warehouses.

Stock Mart Is Active

NEW YORK (AP)—Ralls continued to pace an advancing stock market early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

The carriers were buoyed once again by merger prospects, good earnings and President Johnson's Food for Freedom which gave promise of even greater rail freight revenues.

Industrials followed along somewhat raggedly, with many a loser breaking up the pattern in such groups as steels, rails, chemicals, electronics, airlines, oils and utilities, which actually were down on balance under the pressure of rising interest rates which made them compare less favorably with debt securities.

A scattering of special situations enlivened the list and brought about some fairly big gains for the issues involved.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 368.7 with industrials up .6, rails up 1.7 and utilities off .6.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .22 at 989.25.

State Urges High Court Return Dr. Sam to Prison

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said in a brief sent today to the U. S. Supreme Court that Samuel Sheppard, convicted Cleveland wife slayer, received a fair trial and should be returned to prison.

David Kessler, assistant attorney general who helped prepare the brief, said he would accompany Saxbe to Washington next Monday for a hearing scheduled Feb. 24.

Kessler said the brief reviewed all the evidence submitted in the Sheppard trial to show that the former osteopath's constitutional rights were not violated and that the jury was not influenced by newspaper publicity, as some claimed.

Sheppard received a life sentence for the bludgeoning slaying of his wife, Marilyn, July 4, 1954, but was released after serving ten years in prison by a U. S. District Judge on grounds he did not receive a fair trial.

The Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the judge and Sheppard appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Saxbe asked the court to reject the appeal.

In other developments, John T. Thomas Corrigan, prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga County, in a brief filed in Washington today defended as fair the trial of Sheppard.

Corrigan's brief was submitted to the Supreme Court before the hearing later this month.

Offered as a "friend of the court," the brief said "the fantastic stories told by the petitioner (Dr. Sheppard) were so unreasonable and absurd as to be, in the opinion of the jury, unworthy of credence."

Corrigan disputed that newspaper publicity had affected the trial.

"The opinions of newspaper editors and newspaper articles should not be received as a substitute for evidence," the brief said, "nor as a substitute for the well-reasoned opinions of the trial and reviewing courts based upon the record . . . there was no interference by the news media with the handling of this trial by the trial judge."

The 84-page printed brief asserted that "the publicity that occurred in this case was engendered by the petitioner's own acts and was not a one way thoroughfare. The petitioner, members of his family and his counsel were fairly prolific in the exercise of the first amendment freedoms in their statements to the newspapers for publication and public consumption before and during the trial."

News of World in Brief

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — George E. Brown, 27, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon today. The "weapon" was his automobile.

Police said Brown and Albert Avery got into an argument Saturday night over a pool game. They continued their argument after they left the pool room.

Both men got into their cars, police said, and Brown rammed Avery's. Avery got out and fired a shot when Brown tried to run over him.

The bullet went through the windshield of Brown's car but expended its force so much it lodged in Brown's shirt, causing only a red mark on his chest.

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — The late Branch Rickey, a major league baseball leader for many years, will be honored by his alma mater with a physical education center.

Ohio Wesleyan University trustees voted over the weekend to establish the Branch Rickey Center for Physical Education, to include two existing buildings plus a new fieldhouse and a new gymnasium which are planned for construction.

Rickey, who died in December at 83, was a 1904 graduate of Ohio Wesleyan and was a life trustee of the university.

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Russian writers were convicted today of anti-Soviet propaganda because of books they published abroad under pen names.

Andrei D. Sinyavsky was sentenced to seven years at hard labor, and Yuli M. Daniel was sentenced to five years at hard labor.

Logan Elm Groups Schedule Concert

Logan Elm High School music departments will present their annual Winter Concert 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the school gymnasium.

Featured groups to perform under the direction of Robert Petty will be the concert band, concert choir, boys' octet, and the girls' ensemble.

Selections by the choir will include "Lamb of God," "Praise Ye the Lord," and "God's Gonna Build Up Zion's Wall." The band program will include "Balladair," "Cortege and Fanfare" and the "James Bond Theme."

Boys' octet will sing "Praise We the Lord," "High Barbary," and "This Ol' Hammer." The girls group will sing "All in the April Evening."

There will be an admission price.

Cong Mines Fatal to 54

Villagers Slain In Retaliation

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong mined three buses today, killing 54 Vietnamese civilians and wounding 18 in retaliation for an Allied operation that is rescuing a huge rice harvest.

Allied ground forces reported killing 150 Viet Cong in scattered clashes elsewhere in South Viet Nam in the past 24 hours, while U.S. planes hammered Communist targets in North and South Viet Nam. Guerrillas overran an outpost in the Mekong Delta, at Dinh Mon, and killed or captured all 11 defenders.

The death-dealing Viet Cong mines were set off on a road 10 miles southwest of Tuy Hoan, the central coast where the U.S. 101st Airborne, South Korean marines and South Vietnamese troops have been scouring the countryside for several weeks while the rice was being harvested.

An American spokesman said the first blast was touched off about 7:30 a.m., catching a busload of farmers and killing 27 and wounding 11.

The explosion left a crater nine feet deep in the road, hurled the bus into a canal and scattered bodies along the roadside.

About an hour and a half later, the spokesman continued, a three-wheel vehicle used as a bus and jammed with passengers drove along the same stretch of road and touched off a second mine. Another 20 Vietnamese were killed and several wounded.

An hour and a half later a second three-wheel bus drove onto the scene and set off a third mine. This time seven persons were reported killed.

The mining evidently was in retaliation for the rice harvesting, which has been highly successful in an area that until recently had to import 600 tons a month because the Viet Cong controlled a major portion of the crop.

The airborne brigade, which with Allied troops has killed 137 Viet Cong and captured 75 weapons in Operation Van Buteren, reported that 51 per cent of the harvest is in, a total of 27,100 tons of rice now in government warehouses.

Stock Mart Is Active

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralls continued to pace an advancing stock market early this afternoon in fairly active trading.

The carriers were buoyed once again by merger prospects, good earnings and President Johnson's Food for Freedom which gave promise of even greater rail freight revenues.

Industrials followed along somewhat raggedly, with many a loser breaking up the pattern in such groups as steels, rails, chemicals, electronics, airlines, oils and utilities, which actually were down on balance under the pressure of rising interest rates which made them compare less favorably with debt securities.

A scattering of special situations enlivened the list and brought about some fairly big gains for the issues involved. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 at 368.7 with industrials up .6, rails up 1.7 and utilities off .6. The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .22 at 989.25.

Attention Is Focused on Inflation

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Much attention focused during the week on the possibility of inflation.

And there was considerable discussion about the ability of government guideposts to head off spiraling prices.

Plucky Dorothy Malone Is 'Everybody's Valentine'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just about everybody's Valentine this year is Dorothy Malone, the plucky Texan whose heart stopped, then was revived, during an 11-hour lung operation last September.

The actress now is working three full days each week on "Peyton Place" — more than her schedule before her illness — and enjoying it.

"I do get tired," she admitted. "And when I go out in the evening, they are very short dates. I usually go to bed at the same time as my daughters. I haven't even watched 'Peyton Place' since I've been back on the show; I'm asleep by then!"

Miss Malone looks wan, but beautiful as ever. Not only did she lose 10 pounds during the illness; she dropped another 10 since through lack of appetite. "I just regained my interest in food last week," she reported.

Now she feels strong enough to attend to some unfinished business: answering the thousands of get-well messages that came to her in the hospital.

"It may take years to do it,

but I'm determined to answer all the letters," she remarked.

"The stacks of mail that filled my back bathroom are beginning to diminish, but I've still got a long way to go. Now I'm starting to get thank-you notes for my thank-you notes. I'm afraid those will have to remain unanswered."

Miss Malone was stricken Sept. 22 with back pains. By evening she was near collapse and she was rushed to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where her illness was diagnosed as blood clots in her lungs. Prompt attention by a team of surgeons and use of a new heart-lung machine saved her life.

Unlike some series stars, Miss Malone is content with her lot. She is, in fact, one of the biggest boosters of "Peyton Place."

"We have succeeded where imitations have failed because of quality," she argued. "Our shows are filmed with all the care and production value of a feature movie. The sets are impressive, the stories are good, and everyone is well cast; there are good performers on the show."

She has followed with interest the various rumors about the series: That it will reduce to twice-weekly next season, that it will be filmed in color.

"I haven't talked to the studio about cutting down from three a week, but I think it might make sense," she said. "Two shows a week would provide a better rhythm and make the production details more manageable."

"I have suggested that we film in color, and I hope we do. Our sets would photograph beautifully, and we could use color to compete with the new shows next year."

It could be added that Dorothy's tawny hair and bright-blue eyes would enhance the show as well.

shortages and rising prices fear that "inflation looms as a more serious threat than it has been in many years."

This was in response to a poll by the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

The survey of members showed that 63 per cent of those queried paid more for their purchases in January than they did in December, up from 39 per cent who reported higher prices in December than in November. The association noted that price pressure apparently has developed since August 1962, and added: "While purchasing agents have, during this time, repeatedly refused to be talked into an inflationary psychology, the danger of serious trouble must now be reckoned with."

W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said the Johnson administration's suggested 3.2 per cent per year ceiling on wage-price rises is a poor weapon to combat inflation and probably will fail.

"The so-called guideposts are too simple a tool to solve a complex problem," he said.

He saw the need for noninflationary monetary policies which have the support of both Congress and the White House. Then, he said, it would be up to both industry and labor to adhere to such policies.

Actually, Gullander contended, the United States has for years, and is at the moment, subject to at least mild inflation.

"Any shrinkage in the value of the dollar is inflation," he said. And, he added, the value of the dollar has been shrinking.

Economist Arthur F. Burns criticized the Johnson administration for overheating the economy through expansionary monetary and fiscal policies and then trying to hold the lid on prices and wages through guideposts.

Burns, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers during the Eisenhower administration, expressed his views at a symposium sponsored by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

He said the guideposts would not work and that price and wage increases would become even more disconcerting in the months ahead.

Burns said the government was "much too slow to recognize the inflationary pressures that its monetary and fiscal policies were causing."

The unemployment rate fell in January to 4 per cent of the labor force, the lowest since 1957.

The number of unemployed actually rose 402,000 to 3.29 million but the gain at that time of the year usually is 500,000. Employment fell 1.52 million to 71,229,000 but this was 200,000 short of the usual decline in January.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz predicted the jobless rate will fall to 3.5 per cent or less this year.

"It may take years to do it,

but I'm determined to answer all the letters," she remarked.

"The stacks of mail that filled my back bathroom are beginning to diminish, but I've still got a long way to go. Now I'm starting to get thank-you notes for my thank-you notes. I'm afraid those will have to remain unanswered."

Miss Malone was stricken Sept. 22 with back pains. By evening she was near collapse and she was rushed to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where her illness was diagnosed as blood clots in her lungs. Prompt attention by a team of surgeons and use of a new heart-lung machine saved her life.

Unlike some series stars, Miss Malone is content with her lot. She is, in fact, one of the biggest boosters of "Peyton Place."

"We have succeeded where imitations have failed because of quality," she argued. "Our shows are filmed with all the care and production value of a feature movie. The sets are impressive, the stories are good, and everyone is well cast; there are good performers on the show."

She has followed with interest the various rumors about the series: That it will reduce to twice-weekly next season, that it will be filmed in color.

"I haven't talked to the studio about cutting down from three a week, but I think it might make sense," she said. "Two shows a week would provide a better rhythm and make the production details more manageable."

"I have suggested that we film in color, and I hope we do. Our sets would photograph beautifully, and we could use color to compete with the new shows next year."

It could be added that Dorothy's tawny hair and bright-blue eyes would enhance the show as well.

TODAY
In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Feb. 14, Valentine's Day, the 45th day of 1966. There are 320 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, Gov. William Comstock of Michigan declared a "bank holiday" which expanded into a nationwide closing of all banks the following March 6.

In 1663, Canada became a royal province of France.

In 1778, Capt. Paul Jones and his ship, Ranger, arrived in France flying the Stars and Stripes. Jones was the first to carry the new flag into a European port.

In 1859, Oregon, the 33rd state, was admitted to the Union.

In 1892, Hawaii was formally annexed to the United States.

In 1912, Arizona, the 48th state, was admitted to the Union.

Five years ago...The State Department announced that the Navy had prepared a de-salting process, adding reservoir capacity and keeping water tankers full, following the shut-off of water by Cuba at the naval base Guantanamo Bay.

One year ago...The premiers of the Soviet Union and North Viet Nam jointly accused the United States of trying to expand the war in South Viet Nam.

Public Offers Funds
To Save Lima Star

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—A public appeal for funds to keep the Lima Star going drew $46,000 and the daily newspaper has another lease on life.

Directors early last week said they needed $25,000 by Saturday in order to keep publishing and the fund drive provided well over "what we were hoping for."

The Star has had hard going since beginning operation last Sept. 8 in competition with the established Lima News. The $25,000 was needed to clear up old debts, officials said, adding that the paper made a small profit the past couple of weeks.

The only thing that looks low-priced on a Pontiac Tempest is its price sticker.

And that's removable.

Take it off, and there's just a pure, unabridged Pontiac: crisp, Wide-Track style and handling. A handsome interior. Plus the effortless performance of a new, overhead cam 6 engine that puts out with all the spunk of an 8, yet saves like the traditional 6. And of course, being a Pontiac, Tempest allows you the luxury of choice—with options in engines, transmissions, suspensions, practically everywhere. And like all Pontiacs, Tempest also has a standard safety package with items like seat belts to buckle—front and rear. (That ought to do for now. We'll tell you the rest when you get here.)

What can be done to make children capable of thinking for themselves? The job of society, of parents and of schools is the evolution of an individual who knows how to find out for himself, who seeks the "truth" before he acts.

Children are naturally inquisitive, as every parent knows. If the elementary school is the place where this inquisitiveness can be put to work and a child's enthusiasm can be evoked by his realizing he has found out something for himself, this is, of course, a positive gain. There are many schools where this principle is in active application. There should be more.

What those who believe in "an early feeling for science" would have is the modification of all elementary school curricula to the end that inquisitiveness and enthusiasm shall not be stifled by the imposition of authority. Facts a child is enabled to find out for himself he feels to be his very own.

Ambition: To Work for a Midget By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The secret ambitions of many employees is to work for a midget.

They would give him total devotion.

They are weary of working for tall people.

It would be fun for them as a change to look down on the boss — rather than up — while he tediously explains why they don't have the merit to merit a merit raise.

It is a foible of the business world that there is a connection between a man's altitude and the quality of his brains.

The thought seems to be that the higher a man stands the smarter he is. The executive should loom above the crowd. This is supposed to build morale and improve leadership.

Actually it doesn't.

Height is no proof of brains. Witness the dinosaur, the tallest creature to stride the earth. It died in swamps.

Every inch above 6 feet may help a basketball player, but life is not a basketball game. The majority of mankind's memorable leaders have stood between 5 feet 7 and 5 feet 10 inches.

Example: Winston Churchill, perhaps the greatest man of the 20th century, was almost nearer 6 feet around than 6 feet tall.

Other disturbers of the commonplace, such as Napoleon Bonaparte, Julius Caesar and Voltaire, were of medium height or below. So was Einstein.

If you will go to a board meeting of many a gigantic corporation, you will find it inhabited by tall men. Then an agile, squirrely little fellow, chunky as a tree stump, comes in — and all those big fellows haul themselves to their feet and salute him.

Snap, snap snap! He gets things done.

Tall men often are like Christmas packages. The wrapping is worth more than the contents. The best brains don't come in the large economy size. More often they come in the small economy size.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Boyle is 5 feet 9 inches tall. His boss is 6 foot 1.

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The television networks administered massive doses of Viet Nam talk to the Sunday afternoon audience.

There were two hours of taped highlights from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on NBC, an hour of congressional commentary on CBS. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor on CBS' "Face the Nation" and Barry Goldwater expressing his opinions on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

The situation has developed a large body of experts and an even larger number of opinions on the proper course of action, some of which does not agree with the present administration course.

The disturbing dialogue of course will continue for some time. Meanwhile television's Sunday seminars are excellent public service efforts to update concerned citizens.

On the entertainment front, the weekend highlight was the light-footed and full-voiced return of Sammy Davis Jr., to his NBC show after a month's absence — surely the season's quickest comeback.

Davis, a humble host and only occasional performer in his disappointing first show in January, returned with bounce and style. He sang a lot of good songs, danced in his inimitable style and took part in a swinging production number adapted from his Broadway show, "Golden Boy."

"The Voyage to the Brigantine Yankee" Friday was another of the shows CBS acquired from the National Geographic Society. It was a rather routine photograph account of a trip on an old sailing ship with a crew of young amateurs through the South Pacific — if such a trip could ever be routine.

The color film was beautiful and some of the shots at sea were impressive. It was a real-life adventure of the sort that sets the arm-chair traveler to dreaming.

Jackie Gleason's sudden change of mind about working next season, formally announced Sunday, had been rumored for some days, particularly after CBS sent Sylvester Weaver, former NBC president, to Miami to see if he couldn't help Gleason work out some new ideas.

Weaver apparently didn't do much to inspire Gleason but his old partner in comedy, Art Carney did. Carney played with Gleason recently in a musical based on the "Honeymooners" series, and the upshot was that Gleason signed him up for next season.

Recommended tonight: Gene Kelly in "New York, New York," CBS, 10-11 EST, with Gower Champion, Woody Allen and Tommy Steele.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

Is acne caused by improper diet or any special ingredients in food?

There have been many myths and misunderstandings about the relationship between excess sugars, candies and fats as a cause of acne.

In reality, acne is a disturbance during adolescence caused by a sudden spurt of hormones. A temporary hormone imbalance occurs at puberty in boys and girls. With it the skin develops changes in the glands that produce the lubricating oils of the skin.

For some time two dietary restrictions have been suggested for acne. Chocolate and other sweets in excess should be avoided. Iodized salt should also be restricted.

Only recently a group of 30 adolescents was studied in an effort to establish the relationship between salt and acne. In each case it was found that when low salt diets were prescribed, the acne began to clear within two weeks, and in many the acne disappeared in two months.

This is indeed a hopeful contribution to the youngsters who are bedeviled with this distressing condition.

How many different kinds of arthritis and rheumatism are there?

Rheumatism is a term which has crept into daily usage without being very meaningful. It is vaguely used to describe any kind of pain or ache in the bones, muscles and joints.

Arthritis refers to an inflammation or change within one or more joints of the body. Osteoarthritis, the most common type, affects the joints of the hip, knee, wrist, spine and fingers.

There is also a gouty arthritis, an allergic arthritis, a rheumatoid arthritis and a metabolic arthritis. Infections and injuries can also produce arthritis.

Nowhere in the practice of medicine is there more confusion than that caused by people who make their own diagnosis of "Arthritis and rheumatism."

Before any treatment is started, the physician first definitely establishes the exact cause. Only in this way can he supervise the treatment and keep people from falling into the exploiting hands of "gadgets."

Unsteady steam vaporizers are easily tipped and can cause severe burns.

The Confounding Young

By John Chamberlain

We were driving past the Washington Monument on the way to the airport. At one point we were held up by a straggling line of young people who were presumably on their way to some protest or other. They wore the conventionally unconventional dress of their kind — tight blue jeans, sloppy shirts, disheveled hair, dirty sneakers. Male and female, you could hardly tell which was which. My companion, a well-known publicist and economist, said, "Look at them. They aren't economically motivated, that's for sure."

To my friend the economist, the beatnik is the ultimate heretic. For if the United States were to succumb to mass beatnikery, the Great American Customer would disappear, the factories would shut down, the Gross National Product would shrivel, public welfare would fall off for lack of tax funds, the colleges would close for want of endowments, science would shrivel without money for experiment, our army and air force would be stuck with obsolescent weapons, and the whole blooming American system would go down the drain.

This, of course, is the sort of reduction ad absurdum that one arrives at by riding a theoretical trend curve to the bitter end. But, assuming that we are raising a younger generation that is bored with the American standard of living, there must be some consequences. Could the United States be weakened by the economic apathy of the young to the point where the Communists might pass us and go on to capture control of the world in the name of Marx?

The possibility is there. But, fortunately for the United States, the Russians are having trouble with their younger generation, too. In Russia, the Establishment, or the Power Structure, or whatever you want to call it, lives primarily by politics. There is the party line to which everybody is supposed to conform with enthusiasm. But according to all reports the young Russians are losing interest in both the Communist Party and its ideology. If my friend had been riding past some young people in Moscow on his way to a Soviet airport, he might well have had cause to exclaim, "Look at them. They aren't politically motivated."

Andrei Babich, a Ukrainian on the staff of the Institute for the Study of the USSR in Munich, has recently documented the latest turns in the "fathers and sons" conflict inside Soviet Russia. The Soviet press is full of relevant references.

"Among a section of youth," so the magazine Kommunist reports, "passivity is displayed toward the society around them... Frequently one comes across self-seeking attitudes, private-property complexes, egoism, and disrespectful attitudes toward women."

The author of the Kommunist article, Secretary of the Moscow Urban Party Committee N. Egorichev, adds that he is particularly troubled by "the itch to criticize" among young people, an itch that has developed into "Negation of the whole history of the Party." The tendency, he says, is to "discredit Marxist-Leninist teaching and the general line of the party."

In an article in Pravda there is complaint about the "unsatisfactory state of ideological conviction" among Leningrad high school and university students. More than 7,000 students had to be expelled from higher educational centers in Leningrad in 1965 for "ideological immaturity" and "moral uncleanness." The ideological immaturity was particularly manifest in student failures in social science, which means that they weren't interested in Marxist-Leninist dogma.

We hear a lot about nations that are supposedly on "collision courses." But if the young in the United States aren't economically motivated and the young in Soviet Russia aren't politically motivated, it could point to simultaneous confusion in the two strongest world powers. When the dominant influences in great nations get deflected and blunted, strange things can happen.

Now if anyone can tell us what the young are thinking of their elders in Red China, we might be able to come up with some really interesting conjectures. Defectors from Red China continue to escape through British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao, and there are some refugees who even dare the waters between the Chinese mainland and Formosa. But these are of all ages. The young in Red China have apparently not yet revolted in any "generational" way against the dominant Peking line. If this happens, we could have three great nations all taking off on some unforeseen — and unforeseeable — tangents. It could mean peace, or it could mean the rise of new demagogues.

There were two hours of taped highlights from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearings on NBC, an hour of congressional commentary on CBS, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor on CBS' "Face the Nation" and Barry Goldwater expressing his opinions on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

The situation has developed a large body of experts and an even larger number of opinions on the proper course of action, some of which does not agree with the present administration course.

The disturbing dialogue of course will continue for some time. Meanwhile television's Sunday seminars are excellent public service efforts to update concerned citizens.

On the entertainment front, the weekend highlight was the light-footed and full-voiced return of Sammy Davis Jr., to his NBC show after a month's absence — surely the season's quickest comeback.

Davis, a humble host and only occasional performer in his disappointing first show in January, returned with bounce and style. He sang a lot of good songs, danced in his inimitable style and took part in a swinging production number adapted from his Broadway show, "Golden Boy."

"The Voyage to the Brigantine Yankee" Friday was another of the shows CBS acquired from the National Geographic Society. It was a rather routine photograph account of a trip on an old sailing ship with a crew of young amateurs through the South Pacific — if such a trip could ever be routine.

The color film was beautiful and some of the shots at sea were impressive. It was a real-life adventure of the sort that sets the arm-chair traveler to dreaming.

Jackie Gleason's sudden change of mind about working next season, formally announced Sunday, had been rumored for some days, particularly after CBS sent Sylvester Weaver, former NBC president, to Miami to see if he couldn't help Gleason work out some new ideas.

Weaver apparently didn't do much to inspire Gleason but his old partner in comedy, Art Carney did. Carney played with Gleason recently in a musical based on the "Honeymooners" series, and the upshot was that Gleason signed him up for next season.

Recommended tonight: Gene Kelly in "New York, New York," CBS, 10-11 EST, with Gower Champion, Woody Allen and Tommy Steele.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is acne caused by improper diet or any special ingredients in food?

There have been many myths and misunderstandings about the relationship between excess sugars, candies and fats as a cause of acne.

In reality, acne is a disturbance during adolescence caused by a sudden spurt of hormones. A temporary hormone imbalance occurs at puberty in boys and girls. With it the skin develops changes in the glands that produce the lubricating oils of the skin.

For some time two dietary restrictions have been suggested for acne. Chocolate and other sweets in excess should be avoided. Iodized salt should also be restricted.

Only recently a group of 30 adolescents was studied in an effort to establish the relationship between salt and acne. In each case it was found that when low salt diets were prescribed, the acne began to clear within two weeks, and in many the acne disappeared in two months.

This is indeed a hopeful contribution to the youngsters who are bedeviled with this distressing condition.

How many different kinds of arthritis and rheumatism are there?

Rheumatism is a term which has crept into daily usage without being very meaningful. It is vaguely used to describe any kind of pain or ache in the bones, muscles and joints.

Arthritis refers to an inflammation or change within one or more joints of the body. Osteoarthritis, the most common type, affects the joints of the hip, knee, wrist, spine and fingers.

There is also a gouty arthritis, an allergic arthritis, a rheumatoid arthritis and a metabolic arthritis. Infections and injuries can also produce arthritis.

Nowhere in the practice of medicine is there more confusion than that caused by people who make their own diagnosis of "Arthritis and rheumatism."

Before any treatment is started, the physician first definitely establishes the exact cause. Only in this way can he supervise the treatment and keep people from falling into the exploiting hands of "gadgeteers."

Unsteady steam vaporizers are easily tipped and can cause severe burns.

The Confounding Young

By John Chamberlain

We were driving past the Washington Monument on the way to the airport. At one point we were held up by a straggling line of young people who were presumably on their way to some protest or other. They wore the conventionally unconventional dress of their kind — tight blue jeans, sloppy shirts, disheveled hair, dirty sneakers. Male and female, you could hardly tell which was which. My companion, a well-known publicist and economist, said, "Look at them. They aren't economically motivated, that's for sure."

To my friend the economist, the beatnik is the ultimate heretic. For if the United States were to succumb to mass beatnikery, the Great American Customer would disappear, the factories would shut down, the Gross National Product would shrivel, public welfare would fall off for lack of tax funds, the colleges would close for want of endowments, science would shrivel without money for experiment, our army and air force would be stuck with obsolescent weapons, and the whole blooming American system would go down the drain.

This, of course, is the sort of reductio ad absurdum that one arrives at by riding a theoretical trend curve to the bitter end. But, assuming that we are raising a younger generation that is bored with the American standard of living, there must be some consequences. Could the United States be weakened by the economic apathy of the young to the point where the Communists might pass us and go on to capture control of the world in the name of Marx?

The possibility is there. But, fortunately for the United States, the Russians are having trouble with their younger generation, too. In Russia, the Establishment, or the Power Structure, or whatever you want to call it, lives primarily by politics. There is the party line to which everybody is supposed to conform with enthusiasm. But according to all reports the young Russians are losing interest in both the Communist Party and its ideology. If my friend had been riding past some young people in Moscow on his way to a Soviet airport, he might well have had cause to exclaim, "Look at them. They aren't politically motivated."

Andrei Babich, a Ukrainian on the staff of the Institute for the Study of the USSR in Munich, has recently documented the latest turns in the "fathers and sons" conflict inside Soviet Russia. The Soviet press is full of relevant references.

"Among a section of youth," so the magazine Kommunist reports, "passivity is displayed toward the society around them... Frequently one comes across self-seeking attitudes, private-property complexes, egoism, and disrespectful attitudes toward women."

The author of the Kommunist article, Secretary of the Moscow Urban Party Committee N. Egorychev, adds that he is particularly troubled by "the itch to criticize" among young people, an itch that has developed into "Negation of the whole history of the Party." The tendency, he says, is to "discredit Marxist-Leninist teaching and the general line of the party."

In an article in Pravda there is complaint about the "unsatisfactory state of ideological conviction" among Leningrad high school and university students. More than 7,000 students had to be expelled from higher educational centers in Leningrad in 1965 for "ideological immaturity" and "moral uncleanness." The ideological immaturity was particularly manifest in student failures in social science, which means that they weren't interested in Marxist-Leninist dogma.

We hear a lot about nations

that are supposedly on "collision courses." But if the young in the United States aren't economically motivated and the young in Soviet Russia aren't politically motivated, it could point to simultaneous confusion in the two strongest world powers. When the dominant influences in great nations get deflected and blunted, strange things can happen.

Now if anyone can tell us what the young are thinking of their elders in Red China, we might be able to come up with some really interesting conjectures. Defectors from Red China continue to escape through British Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao, and there are some refugees who even dare the waters between the Chinese mainland and Formosa. But these are of all ages. The young in Red China have apparently not yet revolted in any "generational" way against the dominant Peking line. If this happens, we could have three great nations all taking off on some unforeseen — and unforeseeable — tangents. It could mean peace, or it could mean the rise of new demagogues.

Goldwater, a general in the Air Force Reserve, also renewed his attack on Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He said more authority for the direction of the fighting should be given to "military people who have spent their lives studying the problems of strategy."

"I think men like the secretary of defense," Goldwater said, "should be removed completely from any part of this war other than the logistic part."

Gen. Taylor credited his conclusion that Red China is not likely to enter into war with the United States to the massive U.S. air power.

He said the situation in Viet Nam is similar to that during the Korean War.

"Our air power has been belittled for its performance in Korea because it didn't stop the war," he explained. "It didn't stop the war, but it put a ceiling on the war."

"There were at least a million more armed Chinese north of the Yalu (River) who never came into action because they could not be supported on the front under the pressure from the air."

"By the same token," Taylor said on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation," there is "some ceiling on the strength that can be supported in the South (Viet Nam). And it is fairly low, I might suggest."

Taylor, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and now a special presidential adviser, probably will be quizzed on his views Thursday when he is expected to appear at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's current Viet Nam probe.

Ribicoff accompanied his proposal for another Geneva conference with a series of suggested ways the United States could prove it "has gone to unprecedented length to bring about negotiations."

He said President Johnson should offer to withdraw 10,000 American troops from Viet Nam if the Hanoi government would match the U.S. offer.

Johnson personally should invite participants to the proposed Geneva meeting, make it clear that no subject would be barred from the conference agenda, and name the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg, chief negotiator, Ribicoff said.

The former secretary of health, education and welfare said he had written Johnson about his proposals.

"I am sure the President wants to negotiate," Ribicoff said, "and I believe I have given him a suggestion that might open the way."

The blacklisting of foreign ships that have traded with North Viet Nam actually began Jan. 25, it was revealed, but only came to light after the Maritime Administration had listed the first group of barred ships in the Federal Register.

The blacklist now in effect is patterned after the blacklist imposed against ships trading with Cuba after Jan. 1, 1963, administration sources said. The vessels are barred from transporting U.S.-financed cargoes from American ports, but these ships are not barred from picking up U.S.-financed cargoes in foreign ports and transporting them to other foreign nations.

The Viet Nam hearings of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee continued to provoke congressional comment and criticism.

Sen. Hugh Scott R-Pa., accused committee chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of being irresponsible — by Fulbright's own standards — in criticizing the President's policies in Viet Nam.

Three years ago, Scott said, Fulbright said "it was irresponsible to criticize the administration, and he accused me of all the things he is doing now."

"I am not one of those people who advises that we stop and halt and allow ourselves to be beaten to death," Scott said, "and I'm not one of those criticizing the President. Sen Fulbright is."

Ohio Delegation Seeks Stronger Ag Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio delegation was in Washington today to "call upon members of congress to remove the deficiencies in the administration budget which affect agriculture."

The delegation, headed by Joseph W. Fichter, chairman of the Ohio Farmers Union, planned to discuss pending legislation with Ohio members of congress and to confer with Agriculture Department officials and urge them to increase the price support for milk and adjust controls on Ohio wheat.

ISAAC NEWTON DISCOVERS MERCURY!

"If Sir Isaac had had a car like this, he would have been too busy having fun to discover gravity," says Delaware insurance executive.

Isaac B. Newton, 52, of Milford, Del., didn't believe such a car existed before he drove the new Mercury.

Here's what he said about some of the discoveries he made, after looking over the full line: About the power steering*, he said: "Drives with such little effort and so stable on the road! Made parking a cinch."

About the 410-cu.-in. 4-barrel V-8 power plant: "So quiet! Can't hear it at all. That pickup's really terrific!"

He summed up: "Mercury's my choice after that ride!"

And what did Mrs. Newton discover? "Living room comfort! And the lines of the car are so beautiful."

Beta Rho Members Hold Meet

Beta Rho Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society met in the home of Mrs. Robert Tacy. Mrs. Charles Schieber, president, opened the meeting with an excerpt from the writings of Anne Frank.

Group singing was conducted. Members answered roll call by telling something creative they had done that day. Mrs. Schieber announced that contributions are still being accepted for the community service project.

The Founder's Day committee reports were made. Mrs. James Scott read some excerpts of interest concerning federal control of education. The information came from a monthly news letter which is provided to many Pickaway County teachers by the First National Bank.

A review of the article, "Atmosphere for Creativity," was given by Miss Amy Miga. The conditions which nurture creativity were discussed. Mrs. Scott reviewed the article, "What Have You Done Today That Is Creative?" The replies of several women were read and discussed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Loren Neff and Mrs. P. Lewis Brevard.

Others present were, Mrs. Florence Baker, Mrs. Elizabeth Beatty, Mrs. Lois Brobst, Mrs. Fred Call, Mrs. Ward Cross, Mrs. John Dowler, Mrs. Judd Dresbach, Mrs. Margaret Evans, Mrs. Alfred Gabriel, Mrs. George McGhee, Mrs. Ben Nothstine, Mrs. Leora Sayre, Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Dick Tootle and Mrs. Charles Towler.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Insufficient Evidence!

DEAR ABBY: Recently someone I know very well (I'll call her Vera) made a 6,000-mile round trip in order to be with her daughter when she gave birth to her first baby. Vera stayed ten days, leaving her own husband at home with a heart condition. He didn't want her to go, but Vera convinced him that she had to go. Vera returned exhausted. I told her that she should have stayed home and sent her daughter the money to hire a competent helper. And later on, she could have made the trip with her husband to see the daughter and new grandchild. Vera insisted that her presence at the time of the child's birth was necessary and appreciated, and she had no choice but to go. What do you think?

"CURIOUS" DEAR CURIOUS: I would have to know more about the husband's "heart condition." And how he really felt about Vera's making the trip. Also more about the relationship between Vera and her daughter and their respective financial situations. I would also have to know how accurate your reporting is, who you are, and why you are so "curious."

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend, a married woman, who has a collection of hub caps you wouldn't believe. She said she "bought" some, and others were given to her, but I found out different. Last evening I saw this woman walk over to the curb, take a screwdriver out of her purse, and remove the hub caps from a parked car. What would you do in a case like this?

A FRIEND DEAR FRIEND: Your friend is a thief. Tell her what you know and urge her to stop "collecting" before she collects a jail sentence.

DEAR ABBY: I seldom saw my daughter studying, so I was not too surprised when she brought home a warning that she was failing in two subjects. Her teacher called and asked me to come to school for a private conference. I did, and this is what I learned:

My daughter had told the teacher she was failing in her studies because of her "home situation." She said her mother and father fight constantly about bills, and HIS drinking. Also that I sleep all day and she (the child) has to do all the cooking and housekeeping. Abby, I just don't know what to do about this because there is not one word of truth in it. My husband and I get along very well. I am a competent cook and housekeeper and neither my husband nor I drink. Why on earth would a child make up such wild tales? Can you help me?

FLABBERGASTED DEAR FLABBERGASTED: Whether your daughter is just an imaginative storyteller or is psychologically disturbed is something you should look into. If her school provides a counseling service for "problem children," utilize it. If not, ask your family doctor or pediatrician for his recommendation.

Air Force Plane Curbs Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty Gen. William B. Saxbe said today he is seeking to remove an Air Force restriction blocking airport development in six southwestern Ohio counties.

The restriction in connection with operations at Wright-Patterson and Clinton County Air Force Bases prohibits commercial and private flights over the areas under 60,000 feet except by special permission.

The six counties, Adams, Brown, Clermont, Highland, Pike and Scioto, have no adequate commercial landing field which will accommodate business-type airplanes, Saxbe reported.

He said the restriction "is a barrier" against their economic potential.

Saxbe said he had enlisted the aid of Cong. William H. Harsha, R-Ohio, to petition the Secretary of the Air Force for relief.

By WALTER R. MEARS
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the speed and unanimity of crisis, Congress voted President Johnson its endorsement of "all necessary measures" to bar aggression in South Viet Nam. And now, 18 months later, it is debating the wisdom of a vastly increased U.S. commitment there.

One Democratic senator has described the current Foreign Relations Committee hearings on Viet Nam as an appeal beyond President Johnson to the people.

"The members of this committee are interested in your view," Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told retired diplomat George F. Kennan, "but are also interested in projecting their own."

"We are going over the head of the President to the American people and reaching him through the people," said Gore.

Facing congressional criticism, most of it from Democrats, Johnson has declared his decisions on Viet Nam, including that to renew bombing of the North, are guided by a resolution Congress adopted Aug. 7, 1964.

As for Gore's comment, Johnson said he thinks members of Congress have a duty to submit their programs to the people.

The President, at a Friday news conference, said he did not see much difference between what is being done now and the courses that have been advocated before the committee. Nobody wants to escalate the war, he said, and few people advocate withdrawal.

"I think the country overwhelmingly supports the position that we've taken and I believe that members of the House and Senate do likewise," Johnson said.

Members of the House and Senate were certainly overwhelming in their support of the 1964 resolution on Viet Nam.

The measure swept to near unanimous passage only two days after the White House sent it to Capitol Hill. It followed U.S. air raids on North Vietnamese naval bases, raids in retaliation for Communist torpedo boat attacks on American warships.

That was long before the start of sustained U.S. air attacks on targets in the Communist North.

The massive buildup of U.S. combat troops was 10 months ahead.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said he voted for the resolution with the understanding that the American mission would remain one of supporting and advising South Viet Nam, not of fighting the war.

In the resolution, House and Senate declared:

"The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

"A demonstration to all the world of the unity of all Americans," said Johnson after the Senate approved his resolution 88 to 2 and the House, 414 to 0.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called the resolution a predated declaration of war and, with Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, voted against it.

Morse now has proposed that the resolution be rescinded.

And Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-

Ark., who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, has said he regrets his role in helping to enact it.

The World Today

By WALTER R. MEARS
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the speed and unanimity of crisis, Congress voted President Johnson its endorsement of "all necessary measures" to bar aggression in South Viet Nam. And now, 18 months later, it is debating the wisdom of a vastly increased U.S. commitment there.

One Democratic senator has described the current Foreign Relations Committee hearings on Viet Nam as an appeal beyond President Johnson to the people.

"The members of this committee are interested in your view," Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., told retired diplomat George F. Kennan, "but are also interested in projecting their own."

"We are going over the head of the President to the American people and reaching him through the people," said Gore.

Facing congressional criticism, most of it from Democrats, Johnson has declared his decisions on Viet Nam, including that to renew bombing of the North, are guided by a resolution Congress adopted Aug. 7, 1964.

As for Gore's comment, Johnson said he thinks members of Congress have a duty to submit their programs to the people.

The President, at a Friday news conference, said he did not see much difference between what is being done now and the courses that have been advocated before the committee. Nobody wants to escalate the war, he said, and few people advocate withdrawal.

"I think the country overwhelmingly supports the position that we've taken and I believe that members of the House and Senate do likewise," Johnson said.

Members of the House and Senate were certainly overwhelming in their support of the 1964 resolution on Viet Nam.

The measure swept to near unanimous passage only two days after the White House sent it to Capitol Hill. It followed U.S. air raids on North Vietnamese naval bases, raids in retaliation for Communist torpedo boat attacks on American warships.

That was long before the start of sustained U.S. air attacks on targets in the Communist North.

Ohio Dems May Again Shun Endorsement of Ticket

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Shades of Ohio's "no endorsement" preprimary convention of 1964 loomed over today's Democratic state committee meeting convened to consider primary endorsements.

Forces who turned that gathering of two years ago into a minor sensation by breaking up organization endorsement of U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young for re-election were talking today of an "open primary" for Democratic in 1966.

Doing some of the talking, when queried by The Associated Press, was Don Gosney, Columbiana County Democratic chairman.

Gosney was astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s campaign manager for nomination in the Senate race in '64—a campaign suddenly ended by Glenn's injury in a bathroom fall and subsequent withdrawal leaving Young without primary opposition. The Glenn groundswell forced the preprimary convention to vote down any endorsement.

Gosney's faction and that of State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman appeared headed into another showdown at the afternoon meeting.

The Democratic state executive committee, 46 strong minus a vacancy or two—and with Coleman as chairman—was assembling to consider the recommendations of its steering-screening subcommittee for statewide office.

One of the candidates for nomination: Coleman, for lieutenant governor.

Word blew over, meanwhile, from the 18th Congressional District for which Gosney is Democratic state committeeman, that Gosney was going to move that the party give no endorsement to candidates this year.

Most of the candidates picked by the screening committee have opposition in the May 3 preliminary to the November general election—including Coleman.

"I don't think the Democratic party in Ohio is under strong enough leadership at the present time to endorse anyone and make it stick," Gosney said.

Did this mean Gosney would seek Coleman's removal as party chairman?

No, said Gosney.

But, he said, it's nice to see Coleman running for lieutenant governor—"he's better as a candidate for lieutenant governor than as state chairman."

Coleman, for his part, meanwhile declared that he personally is going to put before the state committee the question of whether it wants him to step down as chairman while a candidate or serve out the balance of his term.

"I just want to make myself available to help the Democratic party," Coleman said from his Marysville home. "I will step down if they want me to."

The chairman was under continued fire from another angle over the weekend — from the man opposing him for the lieutenant governor nomination Paul J. Lynch of Columbus.

Lynch said "a citizen" would file papers today seeking to disqualify Coleman as a candidate because he is a member of the Union County Board of Elections. Coleman said earlier and GOP Secretary of State Ted W. Brown indicated he is right, that "my filing automatically terminated by service on the board."

The massive buildup of U.S. combat troops was 10 months ahead.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said he voted for the resolution with the understanding that the American mission would remain one of supporting and advising South Viet Nam, not of fighting the war.

In the resolution, House and Senate declared:

"The Congress approves and supports the determination of the President, as commander in chief, to take all necessary measures to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

"A demonstration to all the world of the unity of all Americans," said Johnson after the Senate approved his resolution 88 to 2 and the House, 414 to 0.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., called the resolution a predated declaration of war and, with Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, voted against it.

Morse now has proposed that the resolution be rescinded.

And Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who heads the Foreign Relations Committee, has said he regrets his role in helping to enact it.

Ohio River Flood Hinted

Cincinnati Alert For 55-Foot Crest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Melting snow and weekend rains sent scores of creeks and small streams over their banks and caused the first flood alert along the Ohio River since 1964.

Ralph Carey of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Cincinnati said the big river would crest there late Thursday at 55 feet—three feet above flood stage. It was expected to rise above flood stage by early Wednesday.

The situation was more urgent further upstream, where an emergency was declared in the Pittsburgh suburb of Carlisle.

Further downstream, the river was expected to pass the 50-foot flood stage at Portsmouth, Ohio, some time today with a 54-foot crest by 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Cold weather and little further precipitation this week will keep matters from getting worse, Carey said. The bad flood in the spring of 1964 followed rains that fell on seven of the first ten days of March.

Most of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania received up to two inches of rain Sunday. Athens reported 2.17 inches in 12 hours.

Before the rain started, ground in the Ohio Valley was saturated with water from melting snow. The Weather Bureau estimated Ohio had 6-10 to 1 inch of water from the snow.

The smaller streams that feed the Ohio began to subside Sunday night. Fifty-eight stretches of road in the southern and southeastern parts of the state were reported closed.

Residents at Bourneville in Ross County could start cleaning up after Paint Creek crested Sunday night at 15 feet—almost seven feet above flood stage.

The Scioto River was expected to crest today at 21 feet in Piketon, which has a 16-foot flood stage. A 16-foot crest should arrive late today at Circleville (flood stage 14 feet) and Chillicothe expected the river to crest near the 16-foot flood stage on Tuesday.

The Great and Little Miami Rivers crested below flood level Sunday night and so did Licking River which enters the Ohio at Cincinnati.

At Athens, the Hocking River was expected to reach 21 feet—four feet above flood stage—by morning with no crest forecast available.

Basements in many towns were flooded by water from creeks and small streams and families had to leave their homes in several communities. At Athens, Ohio University students began moving their cars from low-lying parking lots.

Federalized Idle Pay Is Opposed in Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Information Committee says a poll it conducted shows Ohio civil leaders opposed 38 to 1 to legislation to federalize unemployment compensation programs.

The committee said it sent out 10,000 questionnaires to civic leaders and received 5,037 replies of which 4,905 were against passage of the proposed law.

The population of the United States increases an average of one person every 12 seconds.

Truck Tractor Is Blown Up

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Sabotage, from all indications, caused the explosion that wrecked the truck tractor that provides Jack Moran's livelihood and rattled his house while the family of eight slept.

That was the word from Darke County Sheriff Robert Howard, who expected FBI and state detectives here today to assist in the case linked with Moran's job.

The tractor Moran owns and drives for Indiana Refrigerator Lines of Muncie, Ind., blew apart early Sunday while it was parked by his home near here.

Sheriff's deputies found evidence explosives had been set in the cab of the vehicle.

Pieces of the 1955 model tractor flew up to 100 feet. All the windows at the rear of the Moran house were shattered.

But no one was injured.

Officials of Indiana Refrigerator Lines said this was the fifth instance of explosives being placed since a labor dispute began at the Muncie firm in July 1964.

But none of those charges went off.

A Teamsters Union local has been at odds with IRL over whether drivers like Moran are employees or independent contractors. A National Labor Relations Board decision is reportedly pending in the dispute.

Moran said 15 of the firm's 55 drivers have been on strike. He said he had not been molested by pickets or union members since returning to work for IRL 13 months ago.

Sheriff Howard said Moran told him he had been en route from New York to Chicago with an IRL trailer but parked it at Van Wert and went home for the weekend with his tractor.

Moran didn't report the incident until Sunday. He told the sheriff he "didn't want to get anybody out of bed."

Springfield's Mayor Gets Citation in Iowa

WATERLOO, Iowa (AP)—The mayor of Springfield, Ohio, received a plaque Saturday night awarded annually to a Negro for achievement in the race relations field.

Robert C. Henry, possibly the only Negro mayor of a major U. S. city, was presented the award by the Youth Achievement League of Waterloo.

The award was presented by Norman Cohn, Waterloo, a business executive who said that only in America on Lincoln's birthday anniversary could a son of a Jewish immigrant who manufactures Christmas gifts present an award to a Negro.

Methodist Men All Prepped For Washington Dinner

All appears ready for Wednesday's traditional George Washington Birthday Dinner, sponsored each year by the Methodist Church Men's Club.

According to Richard Reichelderfer, chairman, the annual dinner will be served from 5:30 to 7 p. m. in the Methodist Church basement. The public is invited.

The dinner is arranged and prepared each year by the Men's Club, along with a "small assist" from loyal wives of members.

The menu has become a tradition. Each year's committee tries only to improve its quality.

AS IN the past, the menu will consist of baked ham, green beans, tossed salad, hot rolls, baked potato, beverage and cherry pie.

Ervin Leist of the pie committee has admitted that women of the church do bake the pies, and have done so for many years.

Other than the dessert course, food will be prepared by the kitchen committee under the direction of J. Boyd Stout and Richard Plum. Supervising the salad and pie supply will be Rolff Wolford.

Visitors will be greeted by Dr. Walter Heine and committee members Ned Harden, W. Lloyd Sprouse, Paul Wachs and Kenneth Robbins.

Table setup is Jerry Wolford's duty. Richard Snouffer and Phil Everett are chairmen of the diningroom and serving committees.

Last men out will be Larry Graham and his cleanup crew. William Cook will prepare decorations again this year.

U.S. Working Girls Scorn Call To Wear Warm Pants

NEW YORK (AP) — A British doctor tells girls to wear ski pants to work in winter instead of short-skirt skirts. Some American women hold no brief for the idea, one declaring that skirts "might be a menace to health but ski pants won't attract as many eyes."

Apparently the eyes have it for a host of ladies who readily acknowledge that they dress to please men, not the weather, an Associated Press sampling of women's views reveals.

Dr. Geoffrey Taylor, an expert on illnesses caused by low temperatures, said Sunday at his laboratory in Cricket Malherbie, England, that "these skirts, four inches above the knee, are ridiculous as protection against the British winter."

"Girls would be more efficient employees if they wore ski pants and men would work better if they wore long underpants," Dr. Taylor said.

Counters Sharon Gunderson, a housewife of West Los Angeles, Calif., "I just don't see what difference it would make. You can get just as sick being over-heated in ski pants as you can getting frozen in short skirts."

Susan Cobourn, 23, of Columbus, Ohio, thinks ski pants for work "are too uncomfortable—not enough freedom. Besides, women are risking their femininity just being in the business world, let alone wearing pants while doing the work."

Sandy Jack, 20, San Francisco secretary, avers, "Short skirts and ski pants can be equally distracting."

Muriel L. Donohue of Boston says she doesn't like the shorter skirts, but adds that ski pants "are too tight for the shape women are in."

Dr. Taylor's suggestion didn't get the cold shoulder from all women.

Joan O'Keefe, 21, of Chicago, notes: "Even if everything else is covered up and your knees aren't it's enough to make you chilly through and through."

A young lady assistant chemist for the Illinois Institute of Technology, says of short skirts: "On most people they look very ugly because very few women are built like fashion models."

Flo Casto, an office worker in Charleston, S.C., was enthusiastic about Taylor's idea, saying, "I think that would be just great. I wouldn't have to worry about getting dressed up."

But two New York City women won't buy the idea.

Sheila Seleznow, 30, an elementary school teacher, said: "I don't think skirts are ever a menace, no matter how short. I don't think women should wear pants to work."

Anita Duncan, 28, a book designer: "Ski pants belong on the ski hills. Short skirts don't bother me, but I acknowledge they may bother some — especially if they're men."

Marion Diane Holbrook, recent college graduate now with a Dallas, Tex., electronics firm, offers:

"The solution is simple: Wear leotards with short skirts and both sides in the controversy — not to mention the men — will be happy."

White Nurse To Marry Samoan Despite Maryland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wedding bells will ring soon for a white Baltimore nurse and a brown-skinned Samoan night club performer — Maryland and Rudyard Kipling to the contrary.

Kipling wrote: "Oh, East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet."

Maryland decreed in a 1935 amendment to its antimiscegenation law that marriage between white and Malaysians or Malaysians and Negroes is taboo.

But Jo Ann Kovacs, 25, and Neki Toalepai, 26, easily circumvented the statute.

After being refused a marriage license in Baltimore because of the 1935 amendment, the couple drove 35 miles to Washington and made application. The capital has no antimiscegenation laws.

The Maryland law defines Malaysians to mean virtually all central Pacific races, including Hawaiians.

"I always thought I was polynesian," mused Toalepai — pronounced Toll-a-pie. He is a native of the American territory of Samoa and thus legally a U.S.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

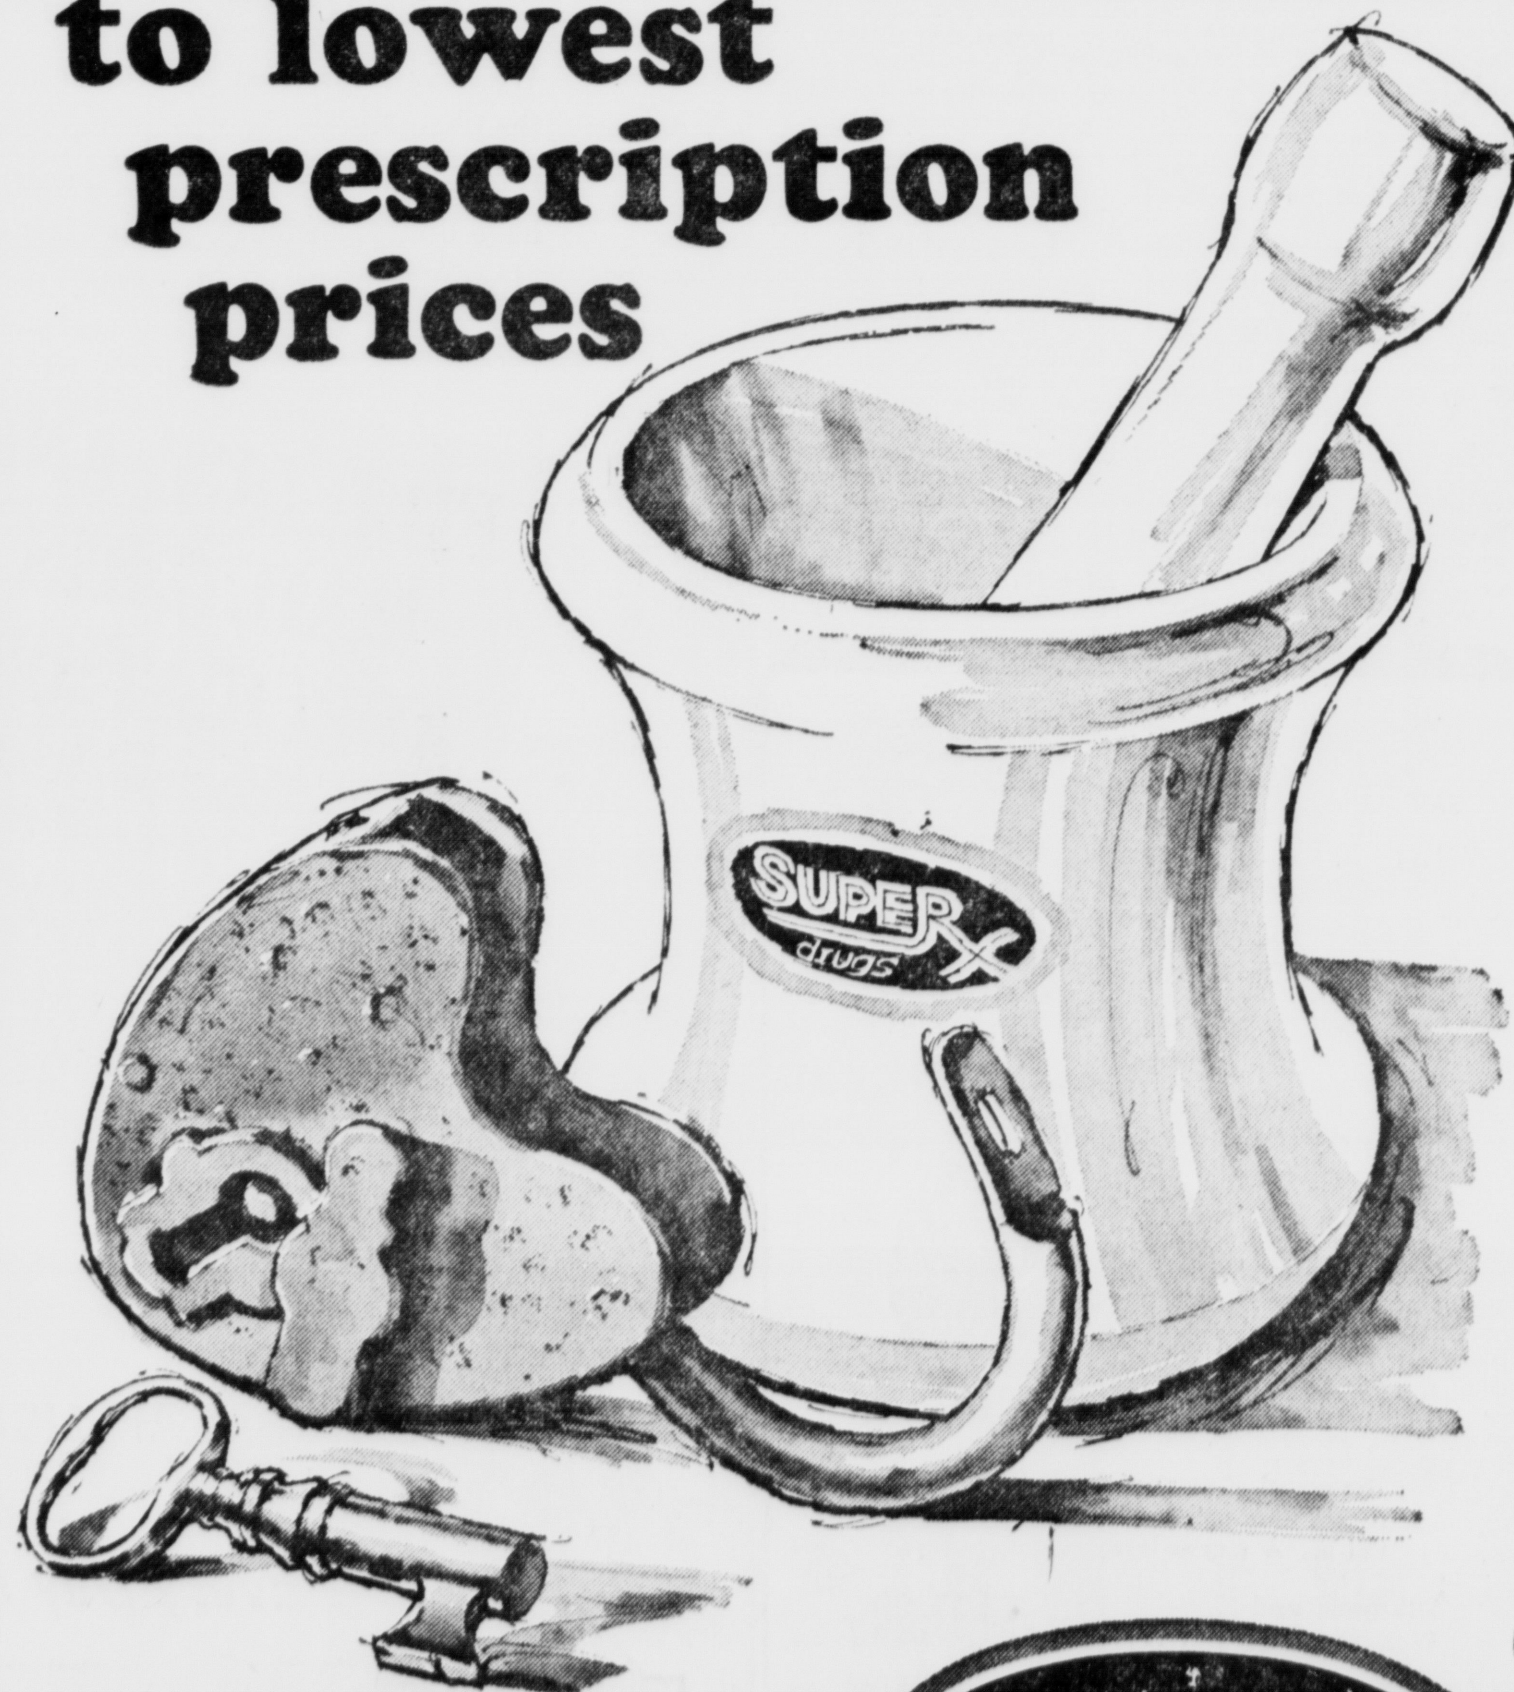

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

Ohio River Flood Hinted

Cincinnati Alert For 55-Foot Crest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Melting snow and weekend rains sent scores of creeks and small streams over their banks and caused the first flood alert along the Ohio River since 1964.

Ralph Carey of the U. S. Weather Bureau at Cincinnati said the big river would crest there late Thursday at 55 feet—three feet above flood stage. It was expected to rise above flood stage by early Wednesday.

The situation was more urgent further upstream, where an emergency was declared in the Pittsburgh suburb of Carlisle.

Further downstream, the river was expected to pass the 50-foot flood stage at Portsmouth, Ohio, some time today with a 54-foot crest by 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Cold weather and little further precipitation this week will keep matters from getting worse, Carey said. The bad flood in the spring of 1964 followed rains that fell on seven of the first ten days of March.

Most of eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania received up to two inches of rain Sunday. Athens reported 2.17 inches in 12 hours.

Before the rain started, ground in the Ohio Valley was saturated with water from melting snow. The Weather Bureau estimated Ohio had 6 to 10 inches of water from the snow.

The smaller streams that feed the Ohio began to subside Sunday night. Fifty-eight stretches of road in the southern and southeastern parts of the state were reported closed.

Residents at Bourneville in Ross County could start cleaning up after Paint Creek crested Sunday night at 15 feet—almost seven feet above flood stage.

The Scioto River was expected to crest today at 21 feet in Piketon, which has a 16-foot flood stage. A 16-foot crest should arrive late today at Circleville (flood stage 14 feet) and Chillicothe expected the river to crest near the 16-foot flood stage on Tuesday.

The Great and Little Miami Rivers crested below flood level Sunday night and so did Licking River which enters the Ohio at Cincinnati.

At Athens, the Hocking River was expected to reach 21 feet—four feet above flood stage—by morning with no crest forecast available.

Basements in many towns were flooded by water from creeks and small streams and families had to leave their homes in several communities. At Athens, Ohio University students began moving their cars from low-lying parking lots.

Truck Tractor Is Blown Up

GREENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Sabotage, from all indications, caused the explosion that wrecked the truck tractor that provides Jack Moran's livelihood and rattled his house while the family of eight slept.

That was the word from Darke County Sheriff Robert Howard, who expected FBI and state detectives here today to assist in the case linked with Moran's job.

The tractor Moran owns and drives for Indiana Refrigerator Lines of Muncie, Ind., blew apart early Sunday while it was parked by his home near here.

Sheriff's deputies found evidence explosives had been set in the cab of the vehicle.

Pieces of the 1955 model tractor flew up to 100 feet. All the windows at the rear of the Moran house were shattered. But no one was injured.

Officials of Indiana Refrigerator Lines said this was the fifth instance of explosives being placed since a labor dispute began at the Muncie firm in July 1964.

But none of those charges went off.

A Teamsters Union local has been at odds with IRL over whether drivers like Moran are employees or independent contractors. A National Labor Relations Board decision is reportedly pending in the dispute.

Moran said 15 of the firm's 55 drivers have been on strike. He said he had not been molested by pickets or union members since returning to work for IRL 13 months ago.

Sheriff Howard said Moran told him he had been en route from New York to Chicago with an IRL trailer but parked it at Van Wert and went home for the weekend with his tractor.

Moran didn't report the incident until Sunday. He told the sheriff he "didn't want to get anybody out of bed."

The award was presented by Norman Cohn, Waterloo, a business executive who said that only in America on Lincoln's birthday anniversary could a son of a Jewish immigrant who manufactures Christmas gifts present an award to a Negro.

Tigers Look Sharp But Lose To Pleasant View, 66-61

By STEVE JONES
Fighting from behind all the way, Circleville's basketball team never gave up, but lost to visiting Pleasant View Saturday, 66-61.

The Tigers scored the first bucket and held Pleasant View scoreless for nearly three minutes in the initial period.

However, the Panthers proceeded to jump to a 13-7 lead which Tim Stonerock narrowed to 13-9 just as the buzzer sounded ending the first quarter.

In the second canto the Tigers pulled within two a couple of times, but just couldn't quite catch the deliberate Panthers. As the teams went to the dressing rooms for halftime instructions from their coaches, the score stood at 29-25.

THE SECOND half saw the Panthers come out of their 2-1-2 zone defense and go into a full court press at times. They stretched their lead to a 37-27 margin at one point during the period, but the Tigers fought back and the score stood at 47-42 going into the final period.

In the last quarter, the biggest lead by the visitors was a nine-point margin with a little less than three minutes to go.

Pleasant View began stalling with 2:24 remaining, holding a 47-40 lead. But the Tigers were able to prevent the stall from being a complete success.

However, the locals never could get closer than five points, although they gamely tried until the final buzzer.

The leading scorer was Tim Stonerock who hit for 23 points. Saturday he got balanced support from his teammates as Dan Speakman hit for 14, Jimmy Diltz cracked the nets for 11. Joe Winner canned nine and Danny Gibbs contributed four.

Pacing the Panthers' offense, Salyers tallied 19 markers on nine field goals and one foul shot. Jim Geddes scored 16 Jeff Coe 11, Mindigo eight, Rhoden seven and Hunger five.

BOTH teams played deliberate, controlled ball. The Panthers took 61 shots from the field, hitting 28 for a 46 per cent average. Circleville fired 49 shots, connecting on 18 for a 38.7 per cent average.

Circleville committed 14 turnovers. Pleasant View lost the ball on errors 12 times. The Tigers pulled in 27 rebounds and Kelly Boyer's reserve cage quintet dropped a real thriller Saturday to Pleasant View Junior varsity, 25-23, in an overtime.

The score was tied, 21-21, at the end of four quarters to throw the game into the extra three minute period.

The little Tigers had the last two shots at the basket with the score deadlocked, but missed both.

In the overtime, Pleasant View controlled the tip, and worked the ball 1½ minutes before taking a shot.

THEY MISSED, Circleville rebounded and came down the floor. Lynn Heath was fouled while shooting, but failed to convert either attempt.

Dave Horst rebounded the second missed charity toss and put the ball through the hoop to give Circleville a 23-21 edge.

Larry Emmelhainz, leading scorer in the game, with 14 points, came right back to can one for the Panthers and the score was tied again.

The Tigers lost the ball on an offensive foul with 25 seconds remaining in the overtime. Then with just five seconds to go, Joe Shaw rebounded his own shot, putting his second effort through the hoop to give Pleasant View the win.

Key Contests Due Tonight For Collegians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A number of the nation's top college basketball teams can take some giant steps toward spots in the NCAA national tournament on a key schedule tonight, while one conference is just waiting for time to count them out all together.

Such standouts as Kentucky, Duke, Chicago Loyola, Texas Western and Providence seek to nail down conference or at-large spots in the first-round tourney schedules, or at least improve their already very good chances in games tonight.

The important action Tuesday is off the court and on the conference table. That's the deadline for the Ivy League — and others — to file certification that they will abide by a controversial NCAA rule establishing a grade minimum for athletes.

The Ivies have announced they won't do it. And the NCAA has said that if they don't, they are ineligible for NCAA championship events — including the basketball tourney.

Just what will happen to the Ivy spot in the NCAA tourney is still open to question — whether it will be filled by an at-large team, or whether it won't be filled at all.

But while the athletic brass wrestle with that administrative problem, solutions of a more basic nature will be forged on a number of courts tonight.

Top-ranked Kentucky, eyeing a fifth national title, takes its 19-0 record to Alabama in quest of its 11th straight SEC victory. A victory, and the Wildcats are favored, would just about put them out of reach of the rest of the league.

Vanderbilt, ranked fifth in the nation at 17-3, has the best chance. The Commodores are 8-2 in the conference and have a game against Auburn tonight.

Duke, No. 2, is at home to South Carolina and figures to improve on its 9-1 league record and 17-2 over-all. The Blue Devils, of course, must survive the league's post-season tourney to make it to the NCAA.

Three other members of the top 10, all shooting for at-large berths and all practically certain of making them, are in action. No. 3 Chicago Loyola, 17-2, is at home to Western Michigan. No. 4 Texas Western, 18-0, is at home to Arizona State, and No. 6 Providence, 17-2, goes to DePaul.

Texas Western had its hands full at New Mexico Saturday night. The Miners were down by 20 points at one stage and had to go to overtime before pulling out a 67-64 victory.

Other members of the top 10 had a much easier time of it. Kentucky took Auburn 77-64, Duke crushed Virginia 81-55, Chicago Loyola routed St. John's, Minn., 106-77, Vanderbilt beat Alabama 71-63, Providence whipped St. Bonaventure 83-62, No. 7 Kansas defeated Oklahoma State 59-38, No. 9 Nebraska stopped Iowa State 81-70 and No. 10 Michigan outscored Wisconsin 120-012.

No. 8 St. Joseph's, Pa., did not play Saturday.

The individual honors went to Houston sophomore Elvin looked sharper than in earlier losses.

Pleasant View is the South Suburban League cage title winner. They are undefeated in league play and have won nine straight. Salyers is the leading scorer in the SSL, with a total of 123 points in loop tests.

PLEASANT VIEW coach Bo Bricks said of his SSL cage kings "This team is better than I thought it would be. They aren't really great, but the boys have learned they have a job to do."

"We have more bench strength than ever. We have eight boys playing a lot this year."

Pleasant View is not on the Circleville schedule next year. Friday the Tigers host Miami Trace and Teays Valley on Saturday.

Logan Elm Falls To Flaget, 79-62

Logan Elm fell to powerful Chillicothe Bishop Flaget, 79-62 Saturday after pulling within five points midway through the final period.

"The game wasn't as bad as it looks," LE coach Keith Merrin commented when reporting the results.

"They got off to an early 18-4 lead, but we came back and cut it to five midway through the second period. Then we narrowed it to five again in the last quarter, but a turnover and a three point play gave them a 10-point lead."

A total of 32 personal fouls were charged to Logan Elm by the officials. Bishop Flaget was called for only 14.

BOTH Darryl Reichelderfer and Don Schaal saw action for only three quarters as both fouled out.

The leading scorer in the game was Flaget's 6-7 center, Danny Murray, who hit 13 field goals and 11 foul shots for a total of 37 points.

For the Braves, Russ Merrin had 20 and Jim Moorehead 13. Tom Smith and Don Schaal both contributed nine to the offense while Ken Palmer and Darryl Reichelderfer had four each and Dale Jenne three.

The Braves hit 22 of 55 attempts from the field for a 40 per cent average. At the foul line, they converted 18 of 21 for an 86 per cent accuracy rate.

Bishop Flaget shot 51 per cent from the field, hitting 26 of 51 attempts and 58 per cent from the free throw stripe, connecting on 27 of 46 chances. The winners outrebounded Logan Elm, 31-29.

The host school also won the reserve tilt, 42-39.

Logan Elm closes out its season Friday at Zane Trace.

NFL Ready To Stock Atlanta '11'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The expansion-minded world of professional sports will have its eye on the National Football League today when the owners tackle the job of stocking their newest baby, the Atlanta Falcons, with 42 veteran players.

The owners must decide how many of their 40-man rosters to exempt or freeze. It is expected they will keep 30 or 32 out of the draft. That would give Atlanta three picks from the bottom eight or ten players on each team.

After they have agreed on a formula, probably Tuesday, The actual selections will be made Wednesday.

The Falcons have a strong base of rookies for they participated in the draft last November and signed 20 players.

The drafted and signed included linebacker Tommy Nobis, Texas' All-America, Randy Johnson, Texas A&I quarterback; and halfbacks Nick Raskas and Bill Wolski and end Phil Sheridan of Notre Dame.

Celtic Lead Is Narrower Than in Past

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"I'm very, very happy to have played a small part on your ball club," Bob Cousy told General Manager Coach Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics.

Auerbach undoubtedly wishes his former backcourt ace still was doing his "small part" because this season has not been the kind Auerbach has grown accustomed to.

The Celtics are leading the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, but only by three games, and already have lost 20 compared to 18 for all of last season. The latest loss was 120-110 to Los Angeles Sunday afternoon.

Boston was trailing by only four points at halftime when Cousy made a presentation during ceremonies honoring Auerbach, who is retiring as coach at the end of the season. But the Lakers clinched it by outscoring the Celtics 32-24 in the third quarter.

In the only other game, the Cincinnati Royals lost 104-102 to St. Louis and dropped to third place in the East, one-half game behind idle Philadelphia.

The Lakers got 26 points from Rudy LaRusso and 25 from LeRoy Ellis before they fouled out in the closing minutes. Jerry West, who picked up the slack after LaRusso and Ellis left, added 22. Larry Siegfried scored 26 and John Havlicek 22 for the Celtics.

Logan Elm Falls To Flaget, 79-62

Logan Elm fell to powerful Chillicothe Bishop Flaget, 79-62 Saturday after pulling within five points midway through the final period.

"The game wasn't as bad as it looks," LE coach Keith Merrin commented when reporting the results.

"They got off to an early 18-4 lead, but we came back and cut it to five midway through the second period. Then we narrowed it to five again in the last quarter, but a turnover and a three point play gave them a 10-point lead."

A total of 32 personal fouls were charged to Logan Elm by the officials. Bishop Flaget was called for only 14.

BOTH Darryl Reichelderfer and Don Schaal saw action for only three quarters as both fouled out.

The leading scorer in the game was Flaget's 6-7 center, Danny Murray, who hit 13 field goals and 11 foul shots for a total of 37 points.

For the Braves, Russ Merrin had 20 and Jim Moorehead 13. Tom Smith and Don Schaal both contributed nine to the offense while Ken Palmer and Darryl Reichelderfer had four each and Dale Jenne three.

The Braves hit 22 of 55 attempts from the field for a 40 per cent average. At the foul line, they converted 18 of 21 for an 86 per cent accuracy rate.

Bishop Flaget shot 51 per cent from the field, hitting 26 of 51 attempts and 58 per cent from the free throw stripe, connecting on 27 of 46 chances. The winners outrebounded Logan Elm, 31-29.

The host school also won the reserve tilt, 42-39.

Logan Elm closes out its season Friday at Zane Trace.

Two Local Lifters Qualify For Olympic Lift Meet

Two Circleville Barbell Club lifters met qualifying totals set up for the 36th annual Olympic Lift Meet held at the Columbus YMCA Sunday, but did not compete.

Phil Grubb, local 123-pound competitor, was ill with a cold for the past week and was unable to enter. His best lifts made in training would have been enough to win the 123-pound class, according to Les Cramer, club instructor.

Cramer who has officially tailed over the qualifying poundage, was the head referee and did not compete. It was the first time in 16 years the Columbus YMCA has backed an Olympic meet.

The Circleville Barbell Club, because of the important part it has played in boosting the wright lifting program in central Ohio, has been awarded the Central Ohio Championship to be held April 17.

Celtic Lead Is Narrower Than in Past

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
"I'm very, very happy to have played a small part on your ball club," Bob Cousy told General Manager Coach Red Auerbach of the Boston Celtics.

Auerbach undoubtedly wishes his former backcourt ace still was doing his "small part" because this season has not been the kind Auerbach has grown accustomed to.

The Celtics are leading the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, but only by three games, and already have lost 20 compared to 18 for all of last season. The latest loss was 120-110 to Los Angeles Sunday afternoon.

Boston was trailing by only four points at halftime when Cousy made a presentation during ceremonies honoring Auerbach, who is retiring as coach at the end of the season. But the Lakers clinched it by outscoring the Celtics 32-24 in the third quarter.

In the only other game, the Cincinnati Royals lost 104-102 to St. Louis and dropped to third place in the East, one-half game behind idle Philadelphia.

The Lakers got 26 points from Rudy LaRusso and 25 from LeRoy Ellis before they fouled out in the closing minutes. Jerry West, who picked up the slack after LaRusso and Ellis left, added 22. Larry Siegfried scored 26 and John Havlicek 22 for the Celtics.

Auerbach Quitting as Celtic Pilot

BOSTON (AP) — Arnold (Red) Auerbach, the most successful pro basketball coach in history, is stepping out as boss of the Boston Celtics with regret and the admission he isn't quite as tough as he appears.

The fiery Auerbach, graying and balding at the age of 48, shed a couple of tears Sunday as he was hailed and showered with gifts at halftime of the Celtics' 120-110 National Basketball Association loss to Los Angeles. A Boston Garden crowd of 10,679 and a national television audience watched the festivities.

"This is just making it tougher to retire," said Auerbach, who plans to move into the Celtics' front office on a full-time basis after this season. "But I'm going to retire. I have to."

Auerbach, hailed as "the greatest coach in basketball history," received a silver tray, a captain's chair, 22 plaques featuring highlights of his 16 years with the Celtics, a lighter for his cigars, a silver cigar box, and portraits of himself, his wife and two daughters.

He also received the basketball of his 1,000th NBA victory, an unprecedented milestone reached last month, and a wrist watch with "1,000" on the dial. The basketball was the one awarded him after the Celtics defeated Los Angeles on Jan. 12 for No. 1,000. It was bronzed and mounted by the club owners, Jack Waldron and Marvin Kratter.

Ohioan Awarded Pole Position

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Jack Bowsher of Springfield, Ohio, zipped 168.164 miles an hour in a 25-mile qualifier Sunday and earned the pole position for next Sunday's 250-mile championship of the Automobile Racing Club of America. Bowsher, in a 1966 Ford, went, 171.102 mph the final lap.

Another Ohioan, Shad Wheeler of Fredericktown, placed second in the other 25-mile quality-ing race. In a 1964 Ford, Wheeler came in 16 seconds behind Jack Lawrence of Detroit, who did 154.663 mph in a 1964 mercury.

1966 Rambler Classic Rebel Hardtop

Here are 8 built-in quality features, many not even found in Cadillac.

1. Every car we sell has two braking systems, instead of one. You get two chances to stop. Only Cadillac, of all the other U. S.-Built passenger cars, has Standard dual hydraulic brakes. 2. Coil spring seats in every car. (Like fine furniture). Cadillac thinks they're better, too, but they only put them in their most expensive models. 3. A Ceramic-Armored exhaust system. Longest lasting on any U. S.-car. 4. Ashtrays that roll on ball bearings. Not even Cadillac goes that far. 5. Surprise power. Take our Rambler Classic, for example. Even its smallest Six is bigger than Fairlane, Chevelle, Belvedere and Coronet. Want more? Our Rambler American outperforms every standard 6-cylinder engine car in its class. (That includes Corvair, Valiant, Falcon, even Mustang). 6. Optional bucket seats (Standard on Rogue, Rebel, and DPL) that recline on BOTH sides. Who else gives you that kind of comfort? Nobody. 7. An optional his and hers automatic transmission that mounts in a sports console. You can shift, she can set it on automatic. 8. Deep-Dip rustproofing. We don't just spray it on. We dunk it right up to the roof. See why we're ready to call the Big 3's hand? Come see the facts, and think twice about your next new car. Our Giant-Killers are giving some very friendly deals.

All Ramblers Have: 1. Dual Safety Brake Master Cylinder 2. Ceramic Armored Exhaust System 3. Deep-Dip Rust-Proofing!
